REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

October 28, 1958

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

Each year, as your President, it is my responsibility and pleasure to report to you the activities of your Executive Committee, which Committee also acts in the capacity of your financial board of directors. Our task during the interim between Board Meetings is to direct the administrative and fiscal affairs of the Printing House in such a manner as to provide the most adequate, yet economically sound, procedures and facilities that will meet the professional purposes of our institution. To this end, each member of your Executive Committee offers the best that he has in the way of experience, background, and business knowledge, so that your Executive Committee may effectively put into action the administrative procedures necessary for the Printing House to provide its services to blind children and adults.

During the past year, your Executive Committee has been concerned largely with efforts to provide additional and improved building space and equipment. As you may have observed, the old original east wing has been razed, and a new basement-and-two-story building is in the process of erection. As originally planned, this building would have comprised only a basement and first floor, although the footings were designed to make possible the addition of more floors as needed. However, a recent survey of needed storage space convinced your Executive Committee of the immediate need for a second floor. The new building, when finished, will comprise 5,940 square feet of floor space, and will be used primarily for the storage of finished stock on the basement and second floors, and the provision of a centralized location for the cafeteria and lunchroom on the main floor, easily accessible to all employees from various parts of the plant. The area vacated by the present lunchroom will be added to the printing and binding departments, which space is greatly needed for production at the present time.

A new one-story building has been erected between the west wing and the manufacturing annex. Comprising 2,320 square feet of floor space, this building will house the raw vinyl plastics and materials, as well as the processed biscuits, used for pressing Talking Book records. Adequate space for receiving the large bulk of raw materials needed for the millroom, and storage for the finished biscuits, has been a pressing need for many years, and care has been taken to see that the new building provides for a direct flow of materials into production, without hindrance to other operations of the plant.

As planned for a number of years, the main floor of the west wing has been completely renovated, in order to provide efficient and pleasant working space for the fund-raising and magazine circulation departments. In addition, modern IBM office equipment has been installed, on the usual rental basis, in order to reduce labor costs and increase efficiency through mechanization. As soon as the fund-raising and magazine circulation procedures have been adapted to the use of the new equipment, its use will be expanded to the cost-accounting and general office operations.

The total cost of the new buildings and renovations will be approximately $150,000.

Donations to The Reader's Digest Fund of approximately $342,000 ran about the same as last year. Donations to the Endowment Fund of the Printing House, in response to the Anniversary Gift Appeal, plus bequests in the form of cash and stocks and bonds, amounted to approximately $39,000. As of June 30, 1958, the total accumulated value of the Endowment Fund was approximately $185,000.

It is with great pride that your Executive Committee announces a new project at the Printing House — the weekly publication of a Talking Book edition of Newsweek Magazine. Under a cooperative arrangement with Newsweek, it is planned to begin publication the first week of January, 1959. Cost of publication will be $3.50 per week; 5 weeks for $17.50; 10 weeks for $35.00; one-fourth year — 13 weeks — for $45.50; one-half year — 26 weeks — for $91.00; and a full year's issues for $182.00. To provide the necessary funds, The Newsweek's Talking Magazine Fund for the Blind is being established on a similar basis to The Reader's Digest Fund for the Blind, and donations from the public will be solicited. A full-page announcement of the new publication will appear in the November 10th issue of the ink-print edition of Newsweek. It is our hope that our first venture into a weekly Talking Book edition of a nationally advertised ink-print magazine will prove of deep interest and benefit to blind readers, and that we shall be successful in financing the publication.

In closing, I should like to say that I deem it a great personal honor to have been your President during the Centennial Year of the American Printing House for the Blind. The founders of our institution were all men of ability and foresight, and your Executive Committee, as their present successors in office, take pride in carrying on the responsibilities they assumed on behalf of the blind people the Printing House serves, both in the United States and abroad. We are proud of our heritage of office, and I think were particularly so at the Centennial Luncheon yesterday, which was attended not only by so many of our Ex-officio Trustees and professional cohorts in work for the blind, including representatives of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and our long-time staunch friend The Reader's Digest Association, but also 16 employees of the Printing House whose years of service run from 20 to 50 years. It was a very great pleasure to me to honor these devoted employees with their Service Pins. I should also like to say to the Ex-officio Trustees, and to Mr. Davis, our most able Superintendent, that I look forward to as successful one hundred years ahead for the Printing House as the first, because of your constructive help and interest. We will not be here to see the Second Centennial, but the Printing House will, I am sure, have continued to expand and grow to meet the calls for its services, as it has done during its first One Hundred Years.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM C. DABNEY, President

REPORT OF THE PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

October 28, 1958

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

The Publications Committee met once during the 1957-58 year, on Saturday, October 25, 1958, for the purpose of reviewing the past year's operations and for the purpose of considering the selection of materials to be embossed and printed in large type during 1958-59.

Although most of the meeting was devoted to approving Braille and large type materials for publication by September, 1959, other important matters related to the publication activities of the Printing House were discussed and upon the basis of these discussions the Committee wishes to make the following recommendations:

That the Library of Congress be advised that while the Publications Committee approves the policy of producing a certain amount of juvenile Talking Books, particularly above primary age, the Committee feels that emphasis should be placed upon providing fiction and library books in Braille in order to encourage the development of good reading skills, one of the most important basic elements in a young blind child's education.

That effective January 1, 1959, all literary Braille material be embossed according to ENGLISH BRAILLE; AMERICAN REVISION — 1959, and all music Braille material be embossed according to the new INTERNATIONAL REVISED MUSIC CODE, as both codes were adopted during the summer of 1958 by identical action of the AAIB and AAWB.

The Committee recommends further that the Printing House publish the following:

Braille and ink-print editions of ENGLISH BRAILLE; AMERICAN REVISION — 1959.

Braille edition (with new plates) of the new INTERNATIONAL REVISED MUSIC CODE.

(Since the ink-print edition of this title has been published by the World Council for the Welfare of the Blind, it is recognized that it will be impossible to have a Printing House edition available on quota accounts. However, it is recommended that the Printing House purchase a stock of the ink-print edition for distribution upon the basis of cash payment.)

Braille and ink-print editions of the TRANSCRIBER'S MANUAL (for music) by H. V. Spanner.

Braille and ink-print editions of THE PRIMER OF BRAILLE MUSIC and THE BRAILLE MUSIC CHART, as recently revised by the Sub-Committee on Music of the American Joint Uniform Braille Committee, in accordance with the new INTERNATIONAL REVISED MUSIC CODE.

Last year the following statement appeared in the Committee's Report: "Because of increased enrollments of blind children in all types of programs throughout the country, and because of the demand for so many different texts and other materials to meet the needs of blind children enrolled in the public schools, the Committee feels that, if it is to meet its responsibilities, present procedures in selecting textbooks should be modified, and that serious consideration should be given by the Printing House to the employment of a full-time textbook specialist."

Based upon another year of experience the Committee reaffirms this statement and strongly recommends to the Superintendent and to the Executive Committee of the Printing House that such a full-time specialist be employed to collect information and make recommendations for the benefit of the Committee. In employing such a person it is to be fully understood that final selections of materials for publication will be made by the Committee itself.

Finally the Committee recommends that its members be prepared to meet more than once a year as the Printing House staff feels the need.

In closing this report the Committee wishes to record a special vote of thanks to Miss Marjorie S. Hooper, Braille and Large-Type Editor, and to Mrs. Betty Wommack, Assistant Braille Editor, for their invaluable contributions which have greatly facilitated the work of the Committee.

Respectfully submitted,

ALTON G. KLOSS, Ed.D., Chairman

REPORT OF THE EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH COMMITTEE

October 28, 1958

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

The Educational Research Committee met at the American Printing House for the Blind Sunday, October 26, 1958 from 1:30 to 4:30 P.M.

Present for the meeting were the following committee members: W. A. Hack, D. W. Olson, Hugo Schunhoff, and W. C. Gill, who served as chairman in the absence of Neal Quimby. Others attending included W. E. Allen, F. E. Davis, Leo Flood, Carson Nolan, Director, and Roy M. Stelle.

Dr. Nolan read the Annual Report of Educational Research under his direction covering the period from January to October, 1958. The report was followed by some stimulating and searching questions and discussions.

Highlights of the report are summarized below:

THE FUNCTION OR ROLE OF THE DEPARTMENT

The role of the department was defined to be the description and prediction of the behavior of the blind child in the educational setting through use of scientific methods and techniques. Initial research activity should be concentrated on a rather narrow, well-defined subject area in order to accumulate enough information on a specific problem to be of practical use.

ACTIVITIES DURING THE PAST YEAR

1. A start in the compilation of a complete bibliography of research in which each work will be individually summarized. This information, when completed, will be available to all interested persons.
2. Adaptation of the remainder of the current series of Stanford Achievement Tests, so that all five forms will be available in Braille and large type.

3. Analysis of the results of the first large type adaptation of these tests.
4. Initiation of a project to evaluate the usefulness of the Arithmetic Computation sub-test of these same batteries.
5. Completion of the Braille spacing studies carried out by the University of Kentucky. The principal result of these studies was that the distance between Braille cells can be reduced at least 20/1000 of an inch without affecting reading speed, (8% less volume for books.)
6. Planning of studies, the purpose of which is to increase the legibility of type and pictures in our large type books.
7. Planning two research projects to study (a) some of the psychological aspects of reading readiness, and (b) some of the psychological aspects of skilled Braille reading.

ACTIONS PASSED UPON BY THE RESEARCH COMMITTEE

1. The committee endorses the idea of concentrating research in a small area in order to accumulate enough information on a problem for practical use.
2. The committee expressed appreciation to Dr. Nolan for his leadership and initiative during the year.
3. The committee warmly endorsed Dr. Nolan's expression of appreciation for the optimum environment created for him by the understanding and cooperation of Mr. Davis.

Respectfully submitted,

W. CRABIN GILL, Acting Chairman

REPORT OF TANGIBLE APPARATUS COMMITTEE

October 28, 1958

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

I am pleased to report on the work of the Tangible Apparatus Committee for the past year. Our Committee has concerned itself principally with evaluating a limited number of apparatus and aids. Also, equipment currently being produced and developed was reviewed.

BRAILLEWRITERS

The Lavender writer, presently in a state of development, is expected to be ready for testing sometime late this year. The writer should meet a real need for a light-weight, efficient machine, and it is expected to be available at a low cost.

The demand for the Perkins Braille has exceeded the supply. Production is currently being increased by the Howe Press, and deliveries will improve in the near future.

The production of New Hall Braillewriters is proceeding at a rapid rate, and orders for these machines can be filled within one to two months.

The over-all picture as to delivery and choice of Braillewriters is improving rapidly. The final development of the Lavender writer is eagerly anticipated.

EVALUATION

The Committee reviewed vacuum-formed maps (currently in production of the United States), a Braille eraser, a paper-aligning device for a standard typewriter, suggestions as to rearrangement of the Braille on the cubes of the Brannan slate, redesigning of a slate and stylus so as to include holes so they could be tied together, and requests to produce more models.

It was felt that the vacuum-formed maps are meeting a real need, and the American Printing House was asked to develop a series of these desk-size maps. The Braille eraser was also approved for production, and a suggestion to develop a signature guide was authorized. Other suggestions and requests were not approved, with the exception of a collapsible Braille scale which will be given further study.

SUMMARY

The work and development of equipment and aids is slow, but real progress is evident during the past year, particularly in the improvement and manufacture of Braillewriters, maps, and the development of a plastic process for reproducing limited quantities of Braille.

CONCLUSION

The Committee is pleased to have the opportunity to say a very sincere "Thank you" to the Board, Superintendent, and staff of the American Printing House for the Blind for their excellent cooperation and support during the past year. We take particular pleasure in expressing our appreciation to them at this time, as the American Printing House has an enviable record of 100 years of service and progress in the research and development of tangible apparatus and other educational aids for blind children.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK JOHNS, JR., Chairman

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

October 28, 1958

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

In presenting my report of our work for the past year, may I join Mr. Dabney in stating that I, too, feel that it has been a very real privilege to be your Superintendent during the 100th Anniversary Year of the American Printing House for the Blind.

LEGISLATION

As all of you know, Public Law No. 922, which became effective August 2, 1956, as an amendment to the original Act of 1879 "To Promote the Education of the Blind," not only increased the authorized ceiling of the appropriation for school materials to $410,000 per year, but also, and more important, made provision for the extension of the benefits of the appropriation to every blind child throughout the United States, the territories and possessions, wherever that child might be educated as a part of our public school system. This means that school books and special educational aids must now be provided, not only for the children enrolled in the residential schools for the blind and the organized classes for the blind in public schools, but also for the individual blind children who are integrated into their regular local public schools, with or without the aid of itinerant teacher or other special services.

The impact of this change can readily be seen when I report that, as of January, 1956, only 7,989 children were registered through the schools and organized classes for the blind, for benefits under the Act, while, as of January of this year, 12,024 were so registered. Breaking down the registration figures for January, 1958, which are the basis for the per capita allocations for the 1959 fiscal year, 6,436 pupils were reported by the residential schools, 189 from adult rehabilitation centers for the blind, and 6,399 from the state departments of education, which are the agencies now administering the funds provided for blind pupils being educated in both organized classes for the blind and in the integrated programs in public schools. Breaking these figures down by school grades, showing the users of Braille as opposed to large type materials, we note the following:

The impact of the above change in emphasis of registrations, to an approximately 55-45 ratio of children in residential schools vs. children in public schools, also the realignment of Braille users vs. large type readers, will be far-reaching, if the Printing House is to be expected to give equal service to all blind children, no matter what their educational situations may be. Perhaps the most important, and costly, change will be the necessity of providing an extremely large variety of textbooks in each subject to meet the demand of the blind child in a public school for the same textbook in Braille or large type as is used by his seeing classmates. Carrying this premise even further, if the blind child in the public school situation is to have the same textbooks as his seeing classmates, he will not want these texts specially edited for use by the blind before printing, as is often most helpful in the residential school situation. This does not mean that specially edited materials for the blind will be discontinued by the Printing House; rather, some way must be found for us to provide, at a reasonable cost of manufacture, materials to meet both educational situations.

Another impact from the opening up of registrations to all blind children is the enormous increase itself. A jump from approximately 8,000 to over 12,000 pupils in two years, with an additional increase expected next year, has cut the per capita rate to about $33 per pupil at the present $410,000 limit of authorization as appropriated for the 1959 fiscal year, and that in the face of rising production costs, plus the need to provide a wider variety of materials which, by reducing the total sales of any particular book or item, inevitably increases unit costs. Cooperative study is under way between the Department of HEW and the American Printing House, looking to further Congressional amendment of the basic Act, not only to increase the ceiling of authorization, but also to augment the effectiveness of the administration of the Act itself, one important point in this connection being representation on the ex-officio Board of Trustees of the Printing House for the state departments of education which administer the funds for the public schools in their states. Hopefully, this legislation will be put into effect by 1960.

PRODUCTION AND DELIVERY OF ORDERS

To date, we have had only a little over one year's experience in dealing with the administration of the Act under the new provisions. Already, however, we have become acutely aware that our previous knowledge of what we must do in the way of production and delivery to meet the needs for school materials is insufficient. Additionally, we know that the state departments of education are just now beginning to get themselves organized in order to take full advantage of the benefits of the appropriation, so that even this first year's experience is really not of much help in planning our work. To be exact, we have literally been swamped with orders for immediate shipment of materials during the past two months, with no advance notice that such would be the case, so that it has been impossible to manufacture sufficient stock in advance to meet the unexpected influx of orders. To this has been added an unprecedented increase in orders from all other sources than those charged to Federal quota accounts. The result, of course, is delay in getting materials to the schools and classes when needed. Hopefully, in another year public school systems which are served through the state departments of education can begin to plan for their needs in early spring before school opening in the fall, and thus help to expedite deliveries as needed. To illustrate this problem, I should like to call your attention to the fact that we have shipped nearly $26,000 more materials during the past three months, mostly to the schools and classes, than in any previous first quarter, we are also two to three weeks behind in the handling of current orders, even though we have added considerably to our office, shipping, and production personnel. Each mail seems to bring in more orders in a single day now than we used to receive in a week! Every effort is being expended to fill new orders, as well as to complete delivery of back orders received earlier, just as soon as possible, and it is expected that, with the exception of new books now being produced, all Braille orders should be completed within a month to six weeks — at least, so far as orders now in hand are concerned.

In noting the apparent delay in production, particularly of new Braille and large type books, I should like to observe that the titles scheduled for publishing during the past year have all been considerably more difficult to emboss in Braille or prepare for large type publication than usual. This is not because the Publications Committee has deliberately chosen more difficult books, but rather because modern formats and contents of textbooks have changed, and the changes require more exact reproduction on our part to make the texts meaningful to the children who will use them. Our editorial staffs have put a great deal of thought and care into the pre-editing of our texts for production in both Braille and large type, and we hope you will like the results.

NEW PLASTIC BRAILLE-PLATE PROCESS

Late this spring, the Board of Trustees and staff of the American Printing House for the Blind, Louisville, Kentucky, announced the development of a new process of Braille printing which will make possible the reproduction of small editions of Braille books from plastic Braille plates vacuum-formed from paper hand-transcribed manuscripts. Since that time, procedures have been set up at the Printing House to facilitate the production of books by this process.

Technically, the new process utilizes the vacuum-forming of plastics, which, of course, is not new to Braille. However, instead of making the plastic sheet the end product for reading (which has many drawbacks, such as difficulty of binding the sheets, and unpleasantness to the finger), double plastic printing plates are made, similar to the metal plates used for printing books, and these master plates are then used to print small runs of a desired title. The purpose of this process is to take advantage of the work of the volunteer transcribers who make the original single, hand-transcribed paper copies. The embossed paper sheets Brailled by the transcribers are used as the masters for making plastic printing plates, duplicate plastic molds being taken of each sheet which are then fastened in registry with each other to form the male and female printing dies, or plates, to be used just like ordinary Braille plates for printing on paper. From there on, standard procedures for the binding of Braille books are employed.

As can be seen from the above simplified description, the effective use of the new process will require the cooperative efforts of the volunteer hand-transcribers, the schools for the blind, public schools enrolling blind children, and the Printing House. As planned, the project will work in this manner:

1. The Printing House will undertake to set up two master catalogs:

Master Catalog of Hand-transcribed Textbooks for Grades I-XII in the United States:

This catalog will be similar to the catalog of hand-transcribed books carried on by the Library of Congress, but will be limited to textbooks for the twelve elementary and secondary school grades. The public school classes and others now using the services of hand-transcribers, as well as the hand-transcribers themselves, will be asked to register with the Printing House all of the transcribed texts embossed on a volunteer basis. This information will be compiled into a master card catalog, constantly being added to at all times. It will then be possible for anyone in need of a particular textbook not in the regular APH Braille catalog to write to the Printing House to see if the book has been transcribed somewhere, and to then ascertain if the book is available for loan, on a sort of inter-library loan basis, for such time as needed by the student requesting the title.

Master Catalog of Plastic Plates Vacuum-formed at APH:

This catalog will consist only of the titles for which plastic vacuum-formed plates are made at the APH, being similar in purpose to the regular Printing House catalog of Braille books printed from metal plates made by its stereograph department. It, too, will constantly be added to as plastic plates are made of new titles, on the basis of orders received by the Printing House. The procedure in this instance will be as follows: Anyone in need of a particular textbook not in the regular APH Braille catalog should consult the APH catalog of vacuum-formed plates. If the desired book is listed, a direct order for the number of copies needed should be sent to the Printing House through the usual channels. If the book is not listed, the Printing House will consult the Master Catalog of Hand-transcribed

Textbooks to see if the title has been transcribed somewhere. If so, the Printing House can then ask to borrow the copy for a limited period of time, say a week, make the plastic plates, and return the original hand-transcribed paper copy to the loaner. From the plastic plates made of any title, as many copies as are immediately necessary can be printed and bound, up to a total of 20 to 30 copies. If only one or two copies are needed on the first request, the Printing House will undertake to store the plastic plates against the need for future reprints, just as it now does with the metal plates it produces regularly in its stereograph department.

2. Because the original embossing will be done on a volunteer basis, the cost of the plastic plates will be confined merely to the cost of making the vacuum-formed sheets, etc., which is estimated at between 30 and 40 cents, as opposed to $1.50 and above for regular metal printing plates. Printing and binding costs will, however, be a good deal higher than regular Printing House catalog items because of the small editions of one or two copies, as opposed to the larger editions of 150 to 200 or more copies of regular printings. Research into ways of reducing the printing and binding costs of small editions is under way.

3. Because the actual manufacture of the books produced, as well as the plates, will be done by the Printing House, the cost of the books so produced will be chargeable to quota accounts.

4. The use of the new process at present will be confined to the manufacture of textbooks (for the school grades only), for which there is insufficient demand to make practical their production according to usual methods.

The advantages of the new process are manifold:

a. The result of the laborious work of each transcriber who produces a single copy of a textbook can be multiplied many times, to the advantage of many children, without having to have the same book retranscribed by hand over and over again.

b. Each child in a public school class with sighted children can hope to have the same title in Braille which is used by his seeing classmates, even though the book in question may not be widely enough adopted throughout the country to make it feasible for press-printing.

c. A complete catalog of all textbooks available, either hand-transcribed or press-printed, will be available for consultation at a central source at all times.

d. Books for which a single hand-transcribed copy is available can be reproduced in a short time.

e. Advantage can be taken of the Federal funds for providing textbooks, so that the hand-transcribers can be released from the onus of reembossing books by hand, and thereby can work towards the expansion of the catalog of books available.

In connection with the new process, the following should be carefully noted:

1. At the present time, only materials which have been hand-transcribed on a Braillewriter can be used, since the dots made on a slate do not reproduce well.

2. It is much preferable that the original paper sheets from which the plastic Braille plates are formed be brand new and not yet used by a student or reader, so that the Braille dots on the hand-transcribed sheets are in the best possible condition, since there is an inevitable loss in dot height in the plastic-plate process (not to the original hand-transcribed paper copy, but in the plastic plates themselves).

3. Since the original embossed paper copy is in one-side Braille, the copies from the plastic plates made from this copy will also be in one-side Braille.

4. The process is not designed to meet the problem of short runs of original materials in a school plant or library, since the printing and bindery machinery employed are standard, expensive equipment, and because the molding and registry of the plastic plates for printing will require considerable technical skill.

In order to make this new project a success for everyone, it will be necessary that all volunteer hand-transcribers and transcribing agencies, public schools, schools for the blind, and state departments of education cooperate with the Printing House in promptly registering all of their hand-transcribed texts, to the end that the Central Master Catalog can be kept up to date for reference by everyone at all times. In return, the Printing House pledges itself to provide the necessary personnel and facilities to give prompt, efficient reference service at all times.

EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH

On January 1, 1958, Dr. Carson Y. Nolan was appointed Director of the Printing House Educational Research Department. Dr. Nolan has spent the past nine months orienting himself in the literature on the education of the blind, compiling a useful background bibliography and annotating the important works available, and has also made several visits to schools for the blind and departments of special education in the various states. I believe that present plans call for the early undertaking of research in the field of Braille reading, with special reference to the perceptual aspects which involve tactual, kinesthetic, and verbal relationships, as opposed to previous studies at the Printing House and elsewhere of motor habits and the mechanics of Braille itself.

CONCLUSION

Looking back over the eleven years I have been Superintendent of the American Printing House for the Blind, the passage of time seems incredibly short commensurate with the expansion and growth of our institution which has been necessary to meeting the rapidly and constantly increasing demands for its services. I do not expect to be a Methuselah and be able to see our Duo-Centennial, but I look forward to continuing progress and growth of our institution, through the devoted aid of our Trustees and loyal staff and employees, to the end that we may always render the best possible service to blind people.

Respectfully submitted,

F. E. DAVIS, Superintendent

APH Announces New Process for Printing Books in Small Quantities

By F. E. Davis, Superintendent

American Printing House for the Blind

On January 23, 1958, the American Printing House for the Blind, Louisville, Kentucky, completed its first hundred years of service. However, because of the usual inclement weather at this season, and because additional building construction is in process, plans for a formal celebration are being arranged for later in the year. Instead, the Board of Trustees and staff of the Printing House have taken this opportunity to announce the development of a new process of Braille printing which will make possible the reproduction of small editions at a reasonable cost, and, more important, will make available the almost unlimited choice of textbooks so badly needed in the education of blind children in the widely varying educational situations now employed in this country.

Technically, the new process utilizes the vacuum-forming of plastics, which, of course, is not new to Braille. However, instead of making the plastic sheet the end product for reading (which has many drawbacks, such as difficulty of binding the sheets, and unpleasantness to the finger), double plastic printing plates are made, similar to the metal plates used for printing books, and these master plates are then used to print small runs of a desired title. The purpose of this process is to take advantage of the work of the volunteer transcribers who make the original single, hand-transcribed paper copies. The embossed paper sheets Brailled by the transcribers are used as the masters for making plastic printing plates, plastic molds being taken of both sides of each sheet which are then fastened in registry with each other to form the male and female printing dies, or plates, to be used just like ordinary Braille plates for printing on paper. From there on, standard procedures for the binding of Braille books are employed.

As can be seen from the above simplified description, the effective use of the new process will require the cooperative efforts of the volunteer hand-transcribers, the schools and classes for the blind, and the Printing House. As planned, the project will work in this manner:

1. The Printing House will undertake to set up a master catalog of all hand-transcribed textbooks, similar to the catalog of hand-transcribed books carried on by the Library of Congress, but it will be limited to textbooks for the twelve elementary and secondary school grades. The public school classes and others who are now using the services of hand-transcribers will be asked to register with the Printing House all of the transcribed texts embossed by the volunteers who work for them. This information will be compiled into a master card catalog, constantly being added to at all times. It will then be possible for anyone in need of a particular textbook not in the regular APH Braille catalog to write to the Printing House to see if the book has been transcribed somewhere. If so, the Printing House can ask to borrow the copy for a limited period of time, say a week, make the plastic plates, and print off a copy or two immediately. Such plates would be permanent up to a total of 50 copies, so that future reprints can be made as needed, without having to go back to the original paper copy and make new plates. The Printing House will undertake to store the plastic plates against such requests, just as it now does with the metal plates it produces regularly in its stereograph department.

2. Because the original embossing will be done on a volunteer basis, the cost of the plastic plates will be confined merely to the cost of making the vacuum-formed sheets, etc., which is estimated at between 15 and 20 cents, as opposed to $1.50 and above for regular metal printing plates. Printing and binding costs will, of course, be a good deal higher than regular Printing House catalog items because of the small editions of one or two copies, as opposed to the larger editions of 150 to 200 or more copies of regular printings. The end result, however, it is hoped, will be a production cost in the neighborhood of present Printing House catalog prices for larger runs on metal plates.

2. Because the actual manufacture of the books produced, as well as the plates, will be done by the Printing House, the cost of the books will be chargeable to quota accounts.

4. The use of the new process at present will be confined to the manufacture of textbooks (for the school grades only), for which there is insufficient demand to make practical their production according to usual methods.

The advantages of the new process are manifold:

a. The result of the laborious work of each transcriber who produces a single copy of a textbook can be multiplied many times, to the advantage of many children, without having to have the same book retyped by hand over and over again.

b. Each child in a public school class with sighted children can hope to have the same title in Braille which is used by his seeing classmates, even though the book in question may not be widely enough adopted throughout the country to make it feasible for press-printing.

c. A complete catalog of all textbooks available, either hand-transcribed or press-printed, will be available for consultation at a central source at all times.

d. Books for which a single hand-transcribed copy is available can be reproduced in a short time at a reasonable cost.

e. Advantage can be taken of the Federal funds for providing textbooks, so that the hand-transcribers can be released from the onus of re-embossing books by hand, and thereby can work towards the expansion of the catalog of books available.

f. Press-printed titles which have been dropped from the Printing House catalog can be reproduced in small quantities, if needed, if an old copy of the book can be located which is not too worn to make good plates.

In connection with the new process, it should be noted that:

1. If the original embossed paper copy is in one-side Braille, as usually is true of hand-transcribed materials, the copies printed from the plastic plates made from this copy will also be in one-side Braille.

2. The process is not designed to meet the problem of short runs of original materials in a school plant or library, since the printing and bindery machinery employed are standard, expensive equipment, and because the molding and registry of the plastic plates for printing will require considerable technical skill.

The Printing House takes pride in making the above announcement, and will be contacting the schools, classes and transcribers in the near future, looking to the setting up of the master catalog and implementation of the project as a new service in the education of blind children in the United States through the Federal Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind." It is our sincere hope that the advantages and scope of the project will be clearly patent to everyone working in behalf of the education of blind children, so that the Printing House can count on the co-operation of the transcribers and others upon which the plan depends for success:

America's House of Braille and Talking Books

By Blake Clark

ALBERT Gayzagian was born blind, but when he was six a teacher helped him to take a giant step out of darkness. She put his finger on a raised dot on a piece of paper and said, "This is 'A.'" Albert learned that two raised dots were "B." And from only six dots, arranged in a cell capable of 63 different combinations, he mastered the entire alphabet. Thus Louis Braille's famous ABC's for the finger tips became Albert's key, unlocking for him the activities of the sighted world.

He used Braille as a student at Perkins School for the Blind in Watertown, Mass., at Watertown Senior High School and at Harvard. Today he is a valued executive of the John Hancock Life Insurance Co., manager of the salary administration division.

Most of the special books, note pads and other aids that helped Albert Gayzagian to the top of his profession came from the American Printing House for the Blind, the world's largest publishing house for the sightless and the oldest national institution for them in the United States. The quiet exterior of its stately, tree-shaded brick structure in Louisville, Ky., gives little indication of the intense activity of some 280 skilled employees.

Stereographers and printing-press operators pound out thousands of books for adult readers of Braille and for the 12,000 children in 109 schools for the blind and in public-school classes throughout the country. They produce 70-odd trade publications, religious journals and other periodicals. Expert technicians and readers make nearly 500,000 "Talking Book" records annually. Craftsmen fashion devices in wood, plastic, rubber and metals to help the blind get the feel of geometrical figures and the shape and relative size of the countries of the world. They manufacture Braillewriters, the six-key typewriters for the blind.

"It is impossible to say how much the Printing House has meant to me," said Wendell Ball of Madison, W. Va. "I began my formal education when I was seven at the state school for the blind. The textbooks I used were all produced by the Printing House. They started me on the road toward social acceptability and economic freedom. Without the Printing House I would have been grossly ignorant, emotionally void—truly blind. Because of it, I have been given light."

There are some 335,000 sightless Americans; each year about 27,000 are added to this group. Guided by Braille and other aids, many who once felt themselves a burden on others have achieved independence. They operate businesses, keep house, seek political office; work as typists, salesmen, chemists and teachers—do whatever people do who can see, directed not by their handicaps but by their interests.

The American Printing House was started by the Kentucky School for the Blind in 1858. Some 20 years later it found a remarkable superintendent. Dr. Benjamin Bussey Hutton, elegant in frock coat and top hat even in his workshop, carved the first dissected wooden maps for the blind, putting the world at their finger tips. Building up the relief with layers of mahogany, he hand-carved mountains and valleys, routed out the major rivers and bodies of water. Upholstery tacks marked chief and capital cities. Each map was a custom-built masterpiece. The Printing House still makes the maps in quantity from permanent molds.

Not long ago I saw children use these maps and other aids at the Kentucky School. It was thrilling to watch sixth-graders' fingers trace the contours of our country, then travel across the seas and over the earth, unerringly lifting out nations. Frequently they found them more swiftly with their fingers than I did with my eyes.

In another room, pretty seven-year old Deanna Yaeger showed me how sightless students read music through Braille. Sitting at a table, she felt raised dots on a sheet of heavy brown paper and called out, "C-D-E-F—that's for the right hand. C-B flat-A—that's for the left," and so on through the complete four-bar piece. Then she found her way to the piano, located middle C and played "The Call of Spring" from memory. When she hit a blue note, she had to go back to the table and check. This method takes time and patience, but she had learned nine pieces in a few months and she played three with perfection. As she improves, she will practice with one hand while reading with the other, then put the two together.

The Printing House has transcribed to Braille a range of music to challenge all talents: over 5000 selections are published in a year, from Bach to the "Rhapsody in Blue," for piano, voice, violin, wind instruments and orchestra. Pianist George Shearing, blind since birth, depends on Braille for his classical music. He reads in bed, memorizing such works as the Schumann "A Minor Piano Concerto" and the Mozart "A Major Concerto."

I visited a fifth-grade arithmetic class and asked Carla Sue Dotson to multiply 236×124 . Using a Printing House aid for math, she punched out the dots representing the numbers on Braille paper about the size of typing paper. As she did the problem I worked it on my note pad. It took her longer, as she had to punch from right to left, so that when she turned the paper over, the embossed dots would be in the proper order. She set down the answer: "29,264," she read.

"I get 28,264," I said. She looked distressed and turned the page to check.

The teacher, looking over my shoulder, said, "Mr. Clark, you carried one instead of two. Carla is right!"

For the blind housewife there are a variety of aids that make life easier. Braille labels can be put on canned goods to protect her from making annoying mistakes. The Printing House cookbook, a best-seller, helps her bring change to her cuisine; there are also special pressure cookers and Braille timers as well as card-index files and knitting and crochet patterns in Braille.

Money to produce these aids came slowly in the early years of the Printing House. The federal government paid for materials supplied to blind children in schools for the blind and in public schools, but as recently as 30 years ago, except for the Bible and a few religious publications, the only reading matter available was educational. The Printing House superintendent, the late Dr. E. E. Bramlett, wanted to publish a magazine of general interest but he hadn't the money.

Then during an airplane trip, in 1928, he picked up a copy of The Reader's Digest and thought it just the magazine he had in mind. He obtained permission to print it in Braille without charge, and the magazine started its practice of soliciting contributions from its readers so that the Braille edition could go free to anyone who asked for it. Hunger for such reading was so great that when Bramlett announced this news at a convention of the blind, the assembly cheered.

The Reader's Digest Fund for the Blind—largely created by gifts from readers—laid the foundation for the long-needed expansion. Today the Printing House publishes 65 Braille magazines, including eight weeklies, and seven Talking Book magazines, some of them running as high as 8000 copies per issue.

What some of these publications have meant to readers is illustrated by the story of a technical journal published by a remarkable man, R. W. Gunderson, who, though sightless from birth, is a radio design engineer for eight New York companies and a teacher of radio theory and practice at the New York Institute for the Blind. In 1950 he started The Braille Technical Press, a magazine on electronics for the blind. It keeps readers informed on new methods and improved techniques in this fast-developing field and runs special features for blind TV-radio servicemen. If a subscriber can afford it, he pays $7 a year for the magazine; if not, he gets it free.

When Gunderson started the Press there were 56 blind "ham" radio operators in the country; now there are over 700. The magazine's technical information has helped several hundred subscribers find jobs in the electronics industry.

Most blind persons are those who have lost their sight after 50; few of these learn Braille. For them, the "Talking Book," developed by the American Foundation for the Blind and distributed by the Library of Congress through regional libraries, is an indispensable friend. The American Printing House began producing long-playing "Talking Book" records in 1936, now accounts for 64 percent of the total number of titles produced in the United States. In one of the best-equipped studios in the country, professional radio and TV announcers, actors and actresses record poetry and drama, history, biography, fiction, religion and philosophy. Several readers share in recording each issue of The Reader's Digest.

For the elderly and inactive listener whose days might otherwise be wearisomely dull, the arrival of another Talking Book is open sesame to a world of boundless treasure. One author and editor who lost his sight in his later years reported that in the period between his 86th and 92nd birthdays he listened to approximately 150 books. "I sometimes think that if I could continue that intimacy [with Talking Books] a few years longer," he wrote, "I might, apart from all enjoyment, become a reasonably cultivated person."

People from abroad have come to the Printing House for special training to help the sightless in their own countries. When Regina Piraja, daughter of a São Paulo ophthalmologist, arrived at the Printing House several years ago, Brazil had no Braille equipment. Miss Piraja learned Braille in her own language, operated the stereograph machine which transfers Braille dots to a metal plate, ran the presses, folded and bound the books. Having mastered the entire process, she returned to São Paulo and set up the first modern printing plant for the blind in Brazil. She trained six stereographers and today her presses print a wide range of publications.

Kalidas Bhattacharjee, a member of the department of education of the government of India, brought the same boon to the blind of his country after training at the American Printing House. Others have brought skills learned at the Printing House to the blind of Cuba, Mexico, Southern Rhodesia, Peru and Chile.

In this year of its 100th anniversary, the Printing House has a gift for the sightless which ranks in significance with the invention of the Braille typewriter and the stereograph: a new printing system using plastic plates. It reduces the cost of printing limited quantities of books, so that when the system is in full effect any blind student should be able to have his texts transcribed into Braille.

Thus, in its varied activities, the American Printing House provides fuel for the lamps by which the blind can see, if not the gleam of day, the light of knowledge.

DONATIONS to The Reader's Digest Fund for the Blind in any amount are welcome. A contribution of $17 entitles the donor to name a recipient of the Braille edition for one year; for $32.50 he may name a recipient of the Talking Book for one year. Donations are permissible income-tax deductions. They may be sent either to The Reader's Digest Fund for the Blind, Pleasantville, N. Y., or to the American Printing House for the Blind, Louisville 6, Ky.

VACUUM-FORMED PLASTIC BRAILLE PLATE CATALOG

(complete to date)

November 16, 1959

Attached is a list of titles for which plastic plates have been, or are being, produced through the vacuum-formed plastic plate process, from hand-transcribed paper copies which have been loaned to the Printing House for this purpose. Reproduced copies of all titles listed are available for purchase on quota accounts.

It will be noted that catalog prices are not given for all titles, but only for the ones for which all volumes have been completed. A schedule of per-volume prices is attached, also, to give the basis for catalog prices. It is impossible, of course, to give prices on books until all the volumes have been processed and we can know the number of pages of each volume for the entire title.

All titles on the attached list have been embossed in Braille grade 2, one-side of the page.

In addition to the attached list, the Printing House maintains a centralized catalog of hand-transcribed textbooks for the first twelve school grades. The Printing House also furnishes a reference service with a view to helping anyone locate a needed hand-transcribed textbook which may be available, either for direct inter-library loan or for possible loan to the Printing House for purposes of making plastic plates for reproduction. For information, simply address the Plastic Braille Plate Department at the Printing House.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

October 27, 1959

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

Once again, it is my pleasure to present to you a report of the activities of your Executive Committee for the past year. This year has been noteworthy as the first year of operation of the Printing House in its second century of service to the blind.

As the financial supervisory arm of your Board your Executive Committee has been concerned with the following:

1. The new storage wing, comprising nearly 6,000 square feet and which was in process of construction at this time last year, has been completed and is in full use. The additional storage space provided in the basement and second-floor areas has proved a great boon to the operations of the Printing House. Without this additional area, it is doubtful if the institution could have carried on another year without resorting to the rental of storage space outside of the present property. The new lunchroom for employees, with its centralized location and more pleasant and adequate facilities, has added much to morale, at the same time releasing needed floor-space for production in the Braille printing and binding departments.

2. Last year, you will remember, we announced the installation of modern IBM office equipment for use in the fund-raising and magazine circulation departments. The use of this equipment is now gradually being extended to the cost-accounting and general office operations, not only in order to obtain the greatest benefits from the rental costs of this equipment, but also to up-date our accounting procedures and provide for fast and accurate information to guide us in our immediate and long-range planning for Printing House operations.

3. The week of January 5, 1959, marked the undertaking by the Printing House of the publication of the first weekly recorded magazine in history — The Talking Book edition of Newsweek. Beginning with an edition of 250 copies per week, at a cost of $182.00 for a year's issues, the demand has increased to 317 copies weekly. Currently, the magazine is being financed through the joint fund-raising efforts of the Printing House and Newsweek Magazine, with substantial donations from each to start the project on its way. It is hoped that the next several months will see the receipt of sufficient donations to the Newsweek Talking Magazine Fund to put the publication on its own feet financially.

4. Of particular interest to educators of the blind and libraries is our latest new project, the publication of a Braille edition of WORLD BOOK ENCYCLOPEDIA. A total of $115,500 is being donated by The Field Foundation and Field Educational Enterprises, Inc. (the latter the publisher of the ink-print edition), to cover the cost of the original plates plus a subsidy for the printing and binding of the first 250 copies. It is estimated that the finished title will comprise some 160 oversized Braille volumes, and that it will require some two years for completion. On April 10, 1959, Mr. J. M. Barr of your local Board represented the Printing House at a press conference in Chicago where he was presented with the first payment on the donation by Mr. Adlai Stevenson, President of the Field Foundation. At this time, I am happy to report that the actual embossing of the Braille plates for the encyclopedia is well under way. When completed, I believe the Braille edition of THE WORLD BOOK ENCYCLOPEDIA will represent the largest and most costly single publication for the blind in history.

5. For a number of years, I have reported to you from time to time on the progress of the research being done by International Business Machines Corporation at its own expense, in cooperation with the Printing House, looking to the application of automation to Braille embossing procedures. The developmental work has progressed to such a point, that on April 21st last, the IBM Corporation called a general press conference in New York to announce the successful programming of a 704 IBM computer for the automatic translation of ink-print material into contracted English Braille grade 2 without the aid of an individual who knows Braille. The Printing House was represented at this conference by Superintendent Davis and myself, as well as the staff members of the Braille department and a few of our ex-Officio Trustees. Currently, the programming of the 704 computer is now being corrected to conform with the new ENGLISH BRAILLE, AMERICAN EDITION — 1959, following which, IBM will, at its own expense, provide the automatically produced punched cards which in turn will be used to direct the Printing House's electronically-driven stereograph machine to emboss the Braille plates for twelve separate titles.

6. In addition to the other usual routine financial responsibilities of your Executive Committee, we have conferred with your Superintendent and representatives of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on proposals for new Federal legislation to amend the Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind," with a view to raising the limit of authorization of appropriation now set at $410,000, and the revision of other aspects of the Act which will expand its effectiveness. I believe Mr. Davis will give you more details on this matter.

It is with sincere regret that I tell you that Mr. Robert Lambert has resigned as Vice-President of the Printing House. Mr. Lambert served with distinction as Superintendent of the Indiana School for the Blind for twenty-five years and was Vice-President of the American Printing House for seventeen years. He retired several months ago.

In closing I should like to express for myself and the other members of the Executive Committee the tremendous satisfaction we get from the constantly expanding and effective program of service offered to the blind by the Printing House. I want to extend to the ex-Officio Trustees, Mr. Finis Davis, Superintendent, and the staff and employees our sincere appreciation for their helpful and constructive interest in the welfare of the Printing House and their labors in its behalf.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM C. DABNEY, President

REPORT OF THE PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

October 27, 1959

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

The Publications Committee met once during the 1958-59 year on Saturday, October 24, 1959, for the purpose of reviewing the past year's operations and for the purpose of considering the selection of materials to be embossed and printed in large type during 1959-60.

Most of the meeting was devoted to approving Braille and large type materials for publication by September, 1960. The Committee recommended that large type materials be published to parallel Braille materials through the elementary grades, provided there is a reasonable demand for the materials, and also recommended that materials be produced in large type on the secondary level to parallel the Braille in instances where there is sufficient demand. These recommendations were made with the thought in mind that teachers desire and need these paralleling materials if they are to render maximum service to their students and that parallel Braille and large type materials should be produced to the fullest extent possible within the confines of sound economics. In order to keep production within the confines of sound economics, the Committee agreed that the Printing House should make final decision as to whether or not Braille should be paralleled with large type on the basis of each individual title, school subject, and grade level.

Last year, the Committee requested that the Printing House investigate the possibility of producing a series of desk-size maps. At our meeting Saturday, Dr. Carson Y. Nolan presented a summary of the study he had completed recently of the maps needed to accompany textbooks in the Printing House catalogs. It was the feeling of the Committee, after hearing Dr. Nolan's report, that the subject of maps was not rightly the province of the Publications Committee, and that the whole matter should be referred to the Tangible Apparatus and Educational Research Committees. However, the members of the Publications Committee requested that they be consulted by these two committees, before maps are produced, in order to insure proper relationship to specific subject fields and grade levels.

Miss Marjorie S. Hooper, Braille and Large Type Editor, reported a stalemate with regard to the publication of new Braille music, and with regard to the publication of the teaching manuals to accompany the new code adopted by the Printing House last year upon recommendation of the Joint Uniform Braille Committee. Following a discussion of the imperative need to go ahead with music publishing, the following resolution was adopted by the Committee:

WHEREAS, The REVISED INTERNATIONAL MANUAL OF BRAILLE MUSIC NOTATION, 1956, was adopted by both the AAIB and the AAWB in conventions assembled in 1958, and by the Board of Trustees of the American Printing House for the Blind on October 28, 1958, although minor objections to the Code have been made since that time;

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Publications Committee recommends to the Board of Trustees of the American Printing House for the Blind that the publication of Braille music be resumed not later than January 1, 1960, employing the new code; and that,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Printing House also go forward with the publication of the Braille and ink-print editions of the teaching manuals and materials as authorized on October 28, 1958.

Concerning the NEMETH CODE OF BRAILLE MATHEMATICS, and the suggestions being made at the present time in the field as to possible complete revision of the code, the Committee recommends to the AAIB-AAWB that all revisions be kept to an absolute minimum, and that the work should be in the way of clarification and expansion rather than revision. The Committee recognizes the problem as one of interpretation to transcribers rather than revision of the Code.

The Committee is happy to report that the Printing House has employed Mrs. Blanche W. Dougherty as Textbook Consultant in accordance with its previous recommendation. Mrs. Dougherty's service will greatly strengthen the efforts of the Committee to serve to the best of its ability the increasing number of blind children enrolled in the varied programs throughout the country.

The Committee recognizes that it is confronted with most difficult tasks in obtaining recommendations and in choosing proper titles for publication in order to meet today's complex needs. It therefore recommends that its members be prepared to meet more than once a year as the Printing House staff feels the need, probably in the spring of the year as well as the fall.

In closing this report, the Committee wishes to record a special vote of thanks to Miss Marjorie S. Hooper, Braille and Large Type Editor, to Mrs. Betty Wommack, Assistant Braille Editor, and to Mrs. Blanche W. Dougherty, Textbook Consultant, for their invaluable contributions which have greatly facilitated the work of the Committee.

Respectfully submitted,

ALTON G. KLOSS, Ed.D., Chairman

REPORT OF THE TANGIBLE APPARATUS COMMITTEE

October 27, 1959

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

The Committee on Tangible Apparatus held its annual meeting on Sunday, October 25, 1959, at the American Printing House for the Blind, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Members of the Committee in attendance were:

W. E. Allen
Byron Berhow
R. M. Stelle
John Wallace

Mr. Frank Johns was absent.

Others in attendance were:

Leo J. Flood
Alton Kloss
Edward Reay
J. M. Woolly
Finis E. Davis
Carson Nolan
Maurice Olsen
Virgil Zickel

Mr. Zickel presented the Report on Development and Production of Tangible Apparatus during the year November 1, 1958-October 24, 1959. This report was discussed and the following actions were taken:

The black plastic one-foot rule, divided into eighths of inches, was approved for production.

The Braille eraser was approved for production.

The shadow-line paper, developed by Mr. LaVoy, of Florida, for use by sight-saving students, was approved in limited production to determine if schools would become interested in extensive use of it.

The series of plaques from Italy depicting architecture by the vacuum-forming process was not approved for production.

It was reported that the maps formerly approved for production by the vacuum-forming process were very popular and that sales of them have increased very much.

Not ready for evaluation or production are the Lavender Braillewriter, the plastic pocket slate, or the raised-line check-book. The writer is in the final stages of research and is to be ready for production, we hope, within the next year, barring some unforeseen development. Apparently this particular machine will be the best small, light-weight, economical writer the inventive mind can devise, and it should be a real contributive aid in the education of the blind.

The Committee explored the possibility of making many vacuum-formed maps in the 16 categories now used in print books. Dr. Nolan was authorized to choose several political maps, discussed by the Educational Research Committee, for production. He was also urged to continue studies leading to the making of multiple-purpose maps by methods now under experimentation, and to production of overlays on basic maps.

Encouragement to investigate possible practical adaptations of the abacus for use by blind children as an aid in arithmetic study was given.

The Printing House was also asked to explore the possibility of putting ink-print books on microfilm to be used by optical projectors to alleviate the need for more material by sight-saving classes.

The final action of the Committee was to remind the schools and classes for blind children to submit ideas and objects of tangible apparatus they find valuable as aids in educating blind children to the Printing House, or to any member of the Committee, for evaluation and possible production.

The Committee appreciates the great concern the American Printing House for the Blind has in this particular field and the tremendous amount of work it has done to promote the production of worthwhile tangible apparatus. We say "Thank you" to the Board, Superintendent Davis, and his staff for their excellent cooperation and support.

Respectfully submitted,

BYRON BERHOW, Acting Chairman

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

October 27, 1959

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

The 1959 fiscal year has been unprecedented in the way of production — in all departments of the Printing House. In the Braille Department, we printed 5,000,000 more pages than the previous year for a total of over 50,000,000; we produced nearly 77,000 bound volumes, almost 83,000 pamphlets, and approximately 590,000 magazines. Large print production was almost doubled, approximately 50,000 pamphlets and volumes being produced. The number of Talking Book records rose to over 670,000, nearly 3,000 REAL tapes were processed, and most items of tangible aids showed an increase in manufacture, including 410 Perkins Brailers and 492 New Hall Braillewriters. Our new vacuum-formed plastic-plate process showed an excellent beginning, with nearly 100,000 pages printed and bound prior to June 30, which production has already been surpassed in the first three and a half months of the current fiscal year. As of today, we are producing 66 Braille, 9 Talking Book, and 1 ink-print magazines on regular schedule, and the number grows with each passing month, it seems. The value of products distributed rose over $100,000, the increase being primarily in the Braille, large type, and tangible apparatus departments.

What this increase has meant in the way of manufacturing problems to the Printing House has been a combination of increased personnel, a “Rob Peter to Pay Paul” scramble for working space, two shifts in some departments and overtime in others. Every effort has been put forth in an endeavor to get books, particularly schoolbooks, ready when they are needed, and I am happy to say that we have been able to reduce the gap by at least 50 per cent between the scheduling of new books and their delivery.

NEW CATALOG ITEMS

As mentioned above, the reproduction of hand-transcribed Braille material by the vacuum-forming plastic-plate process has proved most successful. The demand for these materials has been very great, particularly during the spring and summer months, and we have had to purchase additional equipment and train personnel in order to keep up. Additionally, effective procedures have been established for the reporting of hand-copied Braille books by the volunteer transcribers, and the master catalog of transcribed textbooks is growing with amazing rapidity.

Three items of tangible aids were added to the catalog during the year: (1) the two 12-inch plastic relief globes; (2) the desk maps of the United States, produced in Braille and large-type outline form, as well as a relief map in lightweight plastic; (3) the Texas Slate. All of these items have proved popular with teachers and students.

NEW STAFF MEMBER

For many years it has been apparent that there was a need for a full-time staff member to deal with the problems of textbook selection on a professional basis, so that your Publications Committee could be provided with the best information possible when it came to choosing materials for publication. In keeping with the recommendation of the Publications Committee last year, the position of Textbook Consultant was created as an assistant in the Braille and large-type editorial department, and, on July 1 last, Mrs. Blanche W. Dougherty was appointed to the position. Mrs. Dougherty comes to the Printing House with a background of thirty years as teacher and principal at the Oklahoma School for the Blind, plus technical training and several years' experience in library services. In the less than four months she has been with us, she has been able to draw up a detailed information sheet on all recommendations received from the schools for the blind and public schools, for use by the Publications Committee at its meeting last Saturday. Her next big job is to compile complete information on all the textbooks being used in schools for the seeing throughout the country, and to establish procedures for keeping the information up to date, so that the Printing House may have the necessary reference material available at all times as to the textbooks and other materials that are likely to be in greatest demand for school use. The importance of this procedure may be seen when you realize that more than 50 per cent of our blind children are now being educated in public schools for the seeing. It is our hope to set up a balanced plan of production between our regular press-printed materials and those which can be reproduced by the plastic-plate method, so that we can determine sufficiently in advance which books should be reproduced on metal plates for multiple printing, and those which would be produced through the aid of the volunteer transcriber and the plastic-plate method of reproduction of a few number of copies.

EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH

Seven studies of varying magnitude were completed in the Department of Educational Research during the 1958-1959 year, as follows:

1. THE STANFORD ACHIEVEMENT ARITHMETIC COMPUTATION TESTS — Study of an Experimental Adaptation for Braille Administration
2. ACHIEVEMENT IN ARITHMETIC COMPUTATION — Analysis of School Differences and Identification of Areas of Low Achievement
3. ON THE UNREALITY OF WORDS TO THE BLIND
4. ROUGHNESS DISCRIMINATION AMONG BLIND CHILDREN IN THE PRIMARY GRADES
5. A COMPARATIVE STUDY OF LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT IN BLIND AND SIGHTED CHILDREN
6. A COMPARISON OF GROUPS OF VISUALLY HANDICAPPED CHILDREN FOR ABILITY TO READ TYPE OF TWO DIFFERENT CHARACTERISTICS

7. A STUDY OF PICTURES FOR LARGE TYPE TEXTBOOKS

All of these studies, we feel, should offer information of significant value to educators of the blind. Several of them have been, or will be, printed in The International Journal, and copies may be borrowed from the Printing House for perusal and study.

CONFERENCES

The year 1959 marks the 25th Anniversary of the Talking Book, which was widely publicized through radio and television, and through specially prepared posters distributed on a national basis. On April 14, the Division for the Blind of the Library of Congress, the American Foundation for the Blind, and the Printing House sponsored jointly an invitational celebration held at the Library in Washington, D. C. Although the Printing House did not enter the Talking Book field until 1936, it has steadily increased its output over the years until it now produces more than half of the Talking Books recorded in this country, including nine magazines as noted previously.

Of particular import to educators of the blind was the Conference on the Preparation and Distribution of Educational Materials for Blind Children held in Louisville, January 5-7, 1959, and sponsored and financed jointly by the American Foundation for the Blind and the Printing House. To this Conference were invited representatives of the public schools, the residential schools, state departments of education, the volunteer transcribers and recorders, the Library of Congress, the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, and, of course, the staff members of the Foundation and the Printing House concerned with the problems of the education of blind children and the preparation and distribution of books for their use. The three-day conference proved of considerable value to the participants, and a published report of the meeting has been made available by the Foundation.

LEGISLATION

Probably the most pressing problem facing the Printing House and educators of the blind today is the need for amendment to the Federal Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind," to provide an increase in the ceiling of authorization for the appropriation, and for representation on the Printing House Board of Trustees for the state departments of education as the agents of the public schools educating blind children. For many months, the staff of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has been working on proposed legislation, copies of which have been presented at this meeting for your consideration. However, it is the desire of the Department that the American Printing House for the Blind sponsor legislation introduced into Congress amending the Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind." It is imperative that amending legislation be entered in the next session of Congress in order to provide adequate appropriations so desperately needed right now. The registration of 13,491 pupils last January has cut the per capita base allotment to just a little over $30 for the current fiscal year, and expected increased registrations next year will cut it considerably below that level. At the present time, 11 residential schools and 5 state departments of education have already overdrawn their current quota allotments to the limit of the permitted 25 per cent, with the year less than four months gone. I therefore would appreciate guidance from the Board in the manner and type of legislation which the Printing House should have introduced into Congress at the next session.

In closing, may I take this opportunity to thank Mr. Dabney and the members of the Executive Committee, as well as our ex-Officio Trustees, for their deep and personal interest in the affairs of the Printing House, and to our efficient staff and employees for their faithful and effective work. It is the sum total of these efforts which make up the success of the Printing House.

Respectfully submitted,

FINIS E. DAVIS, Superintendent

Mitchell Wire Forms

With

Matched Planes and Volumes

The Mitchell Forms consist of a set of geometric figures illustrating outline forms, planes and volumes commonly found in geometric problems. Corresponding figures in all three forms have been built to the same scale (the cube is 3" x 3" x 3"), so that the wire frames will fit over the planes of the same shape as well as over the planes of the solids of the same shape, and the planes themselves are of the same shape and size as the same planes on corresponding solids. The volumes have been manufactured of hardwood brightly painted in various colors, and the planes made of wood composition painted in colors corresponding to those of their respective volumes. The wire outlines have been fabricated from $\frac{1}{8}$ " cadmium-plated steel wire.

The entire set is priced at $35.47, postpaid in the United States and consists of the following items, as shown in the accompanying photograph:

15 solids (including 2 parts each for the truncated cylinder and the truncated cone)

11 planes (each $\frac{1}{8}$ " thick)

24 wire frames.

These forms are sold in complete sets only.

Credit for the original design of the Mitchell Forms should be given to Mr. Paul C. Mitchell, Assistant Principal, New York Institute for the Education of the Blind, New York, New York.

DESCRIPTION

The APH Model New Hall Braillewriter is a medium-weight, relatively inexpensive machine which produces standard size Braille. Developed originally for use by the children and teachers in the schools and classes for the blind, the machine is easy to operate and quite rugged in construction. It has been equipped with a minimum of accessory parts in order to make it as simple to operate and trouble-free as possible.

Only the long-carriage model is at present being manufactured. This model will accommodate a 11½ width page and will write 41 cells to the line.

The writer is mounted in an attractive imitation-leather carrying case, and the price of the case is included in the price list below:

Long-carriage Model New Hall Braillewriter —

$60.55 postpaid in U. S.

This writer is designed to wrap the blank paper around a central wooden roller (No. 3), the paper being held by a full-length rubber traction roller (No. 4). The central roller is equipped with a turning knob (No. 6) at either side of the carriage for line spacing. The bottom end of the paper is fastened to the roller by a metal paper clip (No. 11) equipped with three pins to hold the paper in positive position. (In connection with this feature of the writer, it should be noted that the present model has been adapted so that it is now possible to write 25 Braille lines on a 11-inch length paper).

The carriage release (No. 7) is located on the right-hand side of the carriage and functions to free the carriage for manual cell setting.

The backspacer (No. 8) is at the lower right-hand side of the frame, and moves the carriage to the left one cell at a time with each full stroke of the lever. (It should be noted that the lever should be given a strong, quick stroke, rather than a slow, dragging motion, for best results).

A margin stop (No. 9) is mounted at the left-hand end of the margin bar (No. 12) on the carriage, and is provided with 10 adjustments. The bell (No. 15) is set to ring at the 31st cell on the regular model and at the 33rd cell on the long-carriage machine.

The keyboard is the same as that for all Braillewriters, and includes six levers (one for each dot in the cell) and a space bar.

A carriage lock (No. 10) is located on the under side of the margin bar (No. 12) at the back of the machine, and is designed to disengage the escapement bar and at the same time lock the carriage securely to prevent damage in shipment or transport. To engage the carriage lock, the carriage should be moved to the approximate center of the frame by holding the carriage release lever forward. With the carriage in position, the carriage lock should be pushed inward until the two prongs encircle the top of the diebox (No. 14).

OPERATING DIRECTIONS

To prepare the writer for work, turn the paper roller knobs (No. 6) in either direction until the metal paper clip (No. 11) lies just behind the rubber traction roll (No. 14). Open the paper clip vertically against the traction roll by inserting the finger in one of the recesses cut in the paper roller for this purpose. Slip the sheet of paper over the margin bar (No. 12), and between the matrix (No. 13) and the die box (No. 14), into the groove under the paper clip. (If the carriage is pulled fairly far to either the right or the left, it will simplify inserting the paper over the three pins on the roller, including the one in the middle). The paper should be squared at the left against the margin stop (No. 9), and at the bottom along the head of the groove under the paper clip. Holding the paper in position with one hand, rotate the roller backward with the other (See picture), thus snapping the paper clip closed and locking the paper on the three pins which project through the paper clip.

Wind the paper on the roller, until the top of the sheet is in the desired writing position. As you write, the paper should be rolled out line by line by turning the knobs at the sides of the carriage.

No more can be written on the paper when it has been rolled out until the metal paper clip can again be seen behind the rubber traction roll. To remove paper, the paper clip should be raised and the paper lifted off the registry pins. If this is done carefully, the paper may be inserted for making corrections or changes by reregistering the pins in the original perforations.

To write, depress the proper combination of keys to form the Braille characters. Note that the keys correspond to the numbers of the dots of the Braille cell, Dots 1, 2, and 3 being located to the left of the space bar reading outward from the center, and Dots 4, 5, and 6 reading outward to the right of the space bar.

The machine should be kept covered in the carrying case at all times when not in use. The cover of the case is attached to the bottom with "take-apart" hinges which permit the operation of the writer without removal of the machine from the bottom of the case. By leaving the machine attached to the bottom of the case at all times, the writer can be used on the lap or other uneven surface.

The machine should be handled with reasonable care to avoid damage. Particular pains should be taken to avoid knocking it off the table, and the like, and if the cover is kept locked in place when the machine is not in use, it will help to protect the writer from much damage. In the event the machine stands idle for an extended period, or becomes dusty, the moving parts should be cleaned and relubricated with a light machine oil. If machine is used with fair regularity it should be oiled about every two weeks with a drop or two in the groove of the carriage track (No. 16), and on the escapement which is the mechanism which gives the machine its forward motion cell by cell by engaging and disengaging with the teeth of the ratchet bar (No. 17). Very occasionally the pivot bars which activate the punches in the die box should also be oiled. Always use a very light machine oil, such as 3-in-1 or a sewing machine oil.

If the machine becomes damaged or broken, it is recommended that it be returned to the Printing House for repairs. In preparing the writer for shipment, be sure to do the following things:

1. Fasten the carriage lock at the back of the machine around the die box, and tie the carriage securely in place so that it will not move about in transit.
2. Securely tighten the knurled screws which fasten the writer to the bottom of the case.
3. Wad up heavy paper or newspapers and pack tightly around the machine inside the cover of the carrying case, putting padding particularly at either end of the carriage around the roller knobs and on top of the gooseneck, and fasten the lid of the case down tightly.
4. The writer in its case should then be packed in a strong corrugated carton (the original one, if possible) and firmly stuffed with excelsior or wadded-up newspapers on all sides before closing. If possible, wire strappings should be used to fasten the carton.

Note: Brailwriters being returned for repair may be shipped by parcel post at the rate of 1 cent per pound, plus insurance to the value of the machine, under a special postal regulation. The cost of shipment from anywhere in the United States should not exceed 55 cents including the insurance. To obtain this rate, affix a notice like the following above your stamps:

*The American Printing
House For The Blind*

1839 Frankfort Avenue
Louisville 6, Kentucky

The Wooden Constructo Set is an educational toy consisting of various lengths of hard wood (with holes bored at regular intervals) and a quantity of wooden nuts and bolts. This device is similar in design and purpose to the metal erector sets which have been available commercially for many years, but is of wooden construction and much larger in design to enable the blind child to handle the pieces effectively.

Set #1 is priced at $42.75 postpaid in the United States and consists of the following items packed in a wooden storage box 8 x 11 x 33 inches in size:

- 8 wooden lengths $\frac{3}{4}$ x 2 x 30 inches
- 8 wooden lengths $\frac{3}{4}$ x 2 x 23 inches
- 10 wooden lengths $\frac{3}{4}$ x 2 x 16 inches
- 15 wooden lengths $\frac{3}{4}$ x 2 x 9 inches
- 6 right angle joints 2 x 2 x $2\frac{7}{8}$ inches
- 4 right angle joints 2 x 2 x 9 inches
- 50 wooden bolts $\frac{5}{8}$ -inch diameter, 4 inches long

The purpose of this device is to give the blind child not only practice in the development of manual dexterity, but also to help him develop and train his creative abilities by assembling the pieces into various types of structures, such as bridges, derricks, windmills, chairs, and many other items, a few of which are suggested in the accompanying photographs.

Only Set #1, as listed above, is available at the present time, and is being sold in complete sets only.

10" x 12" (for use with a 37-cell slate or Braillewriter, allowing little or no margin).

11" x 11" (for use with a 37-cell slate or Braillewriter, allowing 1⅜" margin at the left).

Price — $1.00 per 4 pounds postpaid in the United States. (Quantity orders will be accepted, but only in multiples of 4-pound units).*

Braille Notebooks with Punched Braille Paper Fillers

Special Braille notebook covers are available with matching punched paper fillers of the same four paper sizes noted above. The notebook covers are made of extra heavy board, covered with a good grade waterproof imitation leather cloth. The strong metal binders contain three rings 1½" in diameter, with a center-to-center distance apart of 4¼". Because of the quality of materials used, the notebooks are designed for heavy wear. The paper fillers are made of the same brown magazine paper as regular slate or writer paper (sample attached), with three holes punched in the left-hand margin to match the rings in the notebook covers.

Prices — Notebook only (to fit any one of the 4 paper sizes) — $2.14 postpaid in the United States.

The Brown slate is a refinement of the regulation pocket slate to which has been added an extra frame to hold the pins for mounting the paper so that it is possible to drop open the bottom part of the guide and read what has been written without taking the paper out of the slate itself. (See photograph). The slate provides for 4 lines of writing, 28 cells each, and employs standard American Braille spacing—.090" between adjacent dots within a cell vertically and horizontally; .250" between horizontally adjacent dots of two adjacent cells within the same Braille line; and .400" between vertically adjacent dots of two vertically adjacent cells of two adjacent Braille lines. The overall size of the slate is $8\frac{3}{8}" \times 2\frac{1}{4}"$. All slates are made of bronze-colored aluminum, and employ a regulation stylus.

Graphic aid for Mathematics

Manufactured by

*The American Printing
House For The Blind*

1839 Frankfort Avenue

Louisville 6, Kentucky

The Graphic Aid for Mathematics consists of a cork composition board (18" x 19" x 1") on the surface of which has been mounted a synthetic moulded rubber mat embossed with vertical and horizontal lines spaced $\frac{1}{2}$ " apart. Accompanying the board is a supply of plastic-headed pins, rubber bands, and flat spring wires. These are to be used in the construction of geometrical and other mathematical figures on the face of the board by inserting the push-pins at various coordinates and connecting these points with rubber bands (for lines) or the flat spring wires (for circles and arcs), as shown in the photograph. With the use of this board, students will be able to construct any plane geometrical figure necessary for the study of arithmetic, algebra, plane geometry, trigonometry, analytical geometry and differential and integral calculus. It can also be used to construct bar and circle graphs, and as a game for younger children.

The price of the Graphic Aid is $12.65, postpaid in the United States. Each set consists of the following items:

- 1 board 18" x 19" x 1"
- 1 cylindrical container holding:
 - 3 flat spring wires
 - 14 plastic-headed push pins
 - A supply of rubber bands

CLOCKFACE
BRaille NOTATION

Manufactured by
*The American Printing
House For The Blind*

1839 Frankfort Avenue
Louisville 6, Kentucky

The Braille Clockface is an educational appliance designed for teaching blind children to learn to read time. It consists of a metal face, with movable hands geared in the regular manner (but without a motor or other driving mechanism) mounted in a round, black plastic frame 7 inches in diameter and 1 inch thick in size. The twelve numbers for the hours are in embossed form in both Braille and ink print, the Braille numbers being on the inside rim of the plastic case immediately outside the metal face, while the ink-print Arabic numerals are embossed on the clockface itself in figures about $\frac{3}{4}$ inch in height. This will enable blind children not only to learn to read time, but also to learn the shape of ink-print numbers. Because the hands are attached to regular clock gears inside the frame, the hour hand follows the minute hand in proper sequence as the latter is moved forward or backward into any desired position.

The price of the Braille Clockface is $2.50, plus 12 cents postage and insurance in the United States — a total of $2.62 each.

IMOUT GAME

Braille Edition

Manufactured by

*The American Printing
House For The Blind*

1839 Frankfort Avenue

Louisville 6, Kentucky

IMOUT is an educational game designed for drill in the quick recognition of fractions of equal value, e.g., $15/20$ is the same as $3/4$, or $6/18$ is the same as $1/3$. The Braille edition, adapted from the original ink-print edition by permission of the author, consists of 20 corrugated boards (6 inches x $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches in size) covered with heavy glazed paper on which have been printed, in both Braille and large type form, five columns of fractions, five to a column. The columns are headed (in Braille and ink print) with the five letters of the word "IMOUT", and holes have been punched in the center of each fraction in each column for the insertion of small pegs.

The game itself is played in a manner similar to bingo. A box of 150 small cardboard squares, each overprinted in both Braille and large type with one of the letters of "IMOUT" plus a fraction, is provided for drawing. As each square is drawn from the box, the letter and fraction printed thereon is called aloud, whereupon each player reads down the column headed by the appropriate letter to see if his card contains the same fraction or one of equal value. If so, he inserts a peg in the proper hole. To win, a player must have five pegs in a row, horizontally, vertically, or diagonally from one corner to another.

The entire game is priced at $5.92 postpaid, and consists of the following items:

- 20 cards (6 inches x $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches)
- 150 squares for drawing (in a box)
- 1 box of approximately 120 pegs
- 1 extra box to hold squares as they are drawn, so that any player's card can easily be checked.

Braille Slates and Styluses

Manufactured by

*The American Printing
House For The Blind*

1839 Frankfort Avenue

Louisville 6, Kentucky

DESCRIPTION

The Braille slate and stylus is the traditional device for writing Braille by hand. All slates consist of a metal frame (or guide), which may or may not be designed to be mounted on a solid board, and a pointed steel punch with a handle called a stylus. Each guide consists of two parts connected at the left end by a hinge. The face of the bottom of the guide is pitted with four lines of a series of six small, round depressions corresponding to the shape and spacing of the dots of the Braille cell. In order to guide the stylus in punching the dots, the top of the frame is punched with four lines of holes which outline the individual Braille cells and correspond to the arrangement of the pits in the bottom of the guide. To write on a slate, paper is inserted between the top and bottom of the guide, being held in place by small pins, and the Braille dots are punched downward into the paper, thus making it necessary to write from right to left in order that, when the paper is turned over in position for reading, the Braille characters can be read from left to right.

All slates manufactured at the American Printing House for the Blind employ standard American Braille spacing—.090" between adjacent dots within a cell vertically and horizontally; .250" between horizontally adjacent dots of two adjacent cells with the same Braille line; and .400" between vertically adjacent dots of two vertically adjacent cells of two adjacent Braille lines. While the number of cells per line may vary with slates of different lengths, all slates manufactured by the Printing House

PURPOSE

Each slate is designed for a different purpose, as follows:

Desk or Board Slates: The large desk slate is designed for use where there is considerable writing to be done, as in school or by hand-transcribers. It will accommodate either a 10"x12" or a 11"x11½" page. The small desk slate is designed for use by small children with shorter arms, and uses an 8"x12" sheet.

Slates Without Boards: The three slates which are not used with boards are designed to be used as follows: The large 37-cell correcting slate is used primarily by transcribers when correcting errors, since it is easier to move about on the page than the large desk slate. The 28-cell pocket slate is the universal slate used by blind persons for their own writing, school children and adults alike, since it is light in weight and easily slipped into a pocket or purse. The 19-cell postcard slate is designed for writing on small cards and sheets of paper, and again closed ready for writing. Thus, the paper can be successively moved from pins to pins so as to keep the line-spacing true down its entire length. The advantage of this slate lies in its light weight and easy storage or transportation.

The two desk model slates consist not only of the hinged guide (without the pins for holding the paper), but a solid wooden board $9/16$ " thick, with a metal hinge with 2 pins at the top for clamping the paper permanently into position. In addition, the guides are provided with a small round peg at either end which match corresponding holes in grooves along either side of the board. To use this slate, the guide is mounted in the two top holes on either side of the board and the top of the guide is opened back to the left. The paper is then inserted squarely into the hinge at the top which is then clamped into place, and the top of the guide is closed over the paper. When the first four lines of writing are completed, it is not necessary to open the guide, but simply to lift it slightly off the board (with the paper still between the top and bottom parts) and move it down so that the pegs on the back of the guide will slip into the next set of holes on either side of the board, and so on, until the entire page of writing is completed. In addition to speeding up the moving of the guide, the fact that the desk slate is mounted on a board assures a flat writing surface at all times.

allow for four Braille lines of writing before the paper or guide must be moved to permit further writing. The same stylus may be used with all slates, although they are supplied with two different sizes of handles—the standard size for adults and smaller ones for young children.

There are two styles of slates—the simple guide; and the board or desk slate which has not only a guide, but a thick board to provide a flat writing surface. Both styles come in more than one guide length, i.e., number of cells per line. The simple guide without the board may be obtained in three lengths—the correcting slate of 4 lines of 37 cells each, the pocket slate of 4 lines of 28 cells each, and the postcard slate of 4 lines of 19 cells each. The desk slate may be obtained in only two lengths—the large board slate with a guide 37 cells in length, and the small board slate with a guide 27 cells in length.

The two styles of slates differ somewhat in design and manner of use. The three simple types of slates—correcting, pocket and postcard—consist only of the hinged guide, on the face of the bottom part of which are four pins which hold the paper in place. As each four lines of writing are completed, the top of the guide is opened back, the paper is lifted upward so that the two holes punched in it at either side by the two bottom pins on the guide are remounted over the two pins at either end of the top of the guide, and two new holes are punched to correspond with the bottom pins, and the top of the guide is then is even more portable than the pocket slate, although it permits of a very limited amount of writing at any one time.

PRICES

The prices of the five slates (each supplied with a stylus) are as follows, postpaid in the United States:

APH Talking Book Reproducer Model L-8

Manufactured by

*The American Printing
House For The Blind*

1839 Frankfort Avenue
Louisville 6, Kentucky

The APH Model L-8 Talking Book Reproducer is a three-speed machine which will play 33-1/3, 45 and 78 r.p.m. records. A modified L-8 Talking Book reproducer is also available at the same price as the regular machine, with two speeds only of 33-1/3 and 16-2/3 r.p.m. The machine is a portable model weighing 23 pounds (25 pounds packed for shipment). The wooden frame is covered with imitation leather. The speaker is mounted in the cover which is detachable from the bottom with a sufficient length of cord so that it can be placed as much as 8 feet away from the machine.

This reproducer has been provided with a Model B81T Astatic turnover ceramic reproducer cartridge, so that it is suitable for use in all types of climate. The cartridge is equipped with dual sapphire needles so that it can play effectively both the older type wide-grooved Talking Book records as well as the newer fine-line microgroove records. The needle-change lever (No. 1) is found on the pick-up arm at the location of the cartridge. When this lever is pointing toward the center of the record, it is adjusted for the new fine-groove records. When the older records are played, the needle-change lever should be pushed downward and up on the side of the arm away from the center of the record. With moderate care and usage, these needles will last for several years. The needles are permanently attached to the cartridge insert. If the needles become damaged, you must replace the insert. These can be replaced at a nominal cost by your local radio service company. (Use the Astatic No. 81T insert). Inserts can also be ordered from the Printing House (price $1.65 postpaid).

The Model L-8 is designed to operate on 110-120 volts, 60 cycles, AC current only. The power consumption is 70 watts. A fuse (No. 2) receptacle is located on the motorboard. If replacement of the fuse should be necessary, use only a 3AG-1 amp., 250 volt fuse. One spare fuse is supplied with each new machine, to be found in the open receptacle on the motorboard when the machine is shipped.

There are four controls (for numbers, refer to picture):

a. Volume control (No. 3)—This knob controls the loudness of the speaking. It also turns off the power when turned to the maximum counterclockwise position. It should always be in this position when the reproducer is not in use.

b. Toggle switch (No. 4)—This is used to stop the turntable when changing records. It does not turn off the power to the amplifier.

c. Tone control (No. 5)—The right-hand knob. Turn the knob counterclockwise to increase the bass frequencies of voice, clockwise to obtain higher frequencies.

d. Turntable speed lever (No. 6)—This is located at the left of the turntable. Speeds of 33-1/3, 45 and 78 r.p.m., as well as "off", are indicated. When the machine is not in use, this lever should be turned to the "off" position. Intermediate speeds are not available. (A plastic bushing is provided to adapt the turntable to 45 r.p.m.)

A jack (No. 7) for a speaker plug is located on the motor-board. Earphones for use with this machine should be purchased from a local radio store (or at the APH—price $3.00 plus postage), if it is desired to substitute earphones for the speaker. Such earphones must be equipped with a plug (Mal-lory Catalog No. 75 or equivalent).

All Model L-8 machines can be used in the tropics, semi-tropics, or locations where high heat and humidity are encountered, as well as in normal climates. This reproducer is not, however, designed to reproduce Soundscriber records, although it may be possible to play some records of this type on this machine.

Price—$60.00, plus insurance and express on 25 pounds from Louisville to destination. (When ordering, be sure to indicate whether you want the regular Model L-8 or the two-speed modified L-8.)

*The American Printing
House For The Blind*

1839 Frankfort Avenue
Louisville 6, Kentucky

This device consists of a metal type frame and a set of plastic type.

The frame is made of light-weight aluminum, anodized a bright green, being $7\frac{1}{4}''$ x $12''$ in size. There are 432 octagon-shaped cells in the frame (18×24), with a tray at one end for holding the extra type when the frame is in use.

A set of type consists of 225 separate, identical pieces of type, molded from hard yellow vinyl plastic, or lead type, each type piece being $\frac{3}{16}'' \times \frac{3}{16}'' \times \frac{11}{16}''$ in size. A. P. H.
Cubarithm or Arabic
Numeral Arithmetic Type
Slate and Kindergarten
Peg Board

Manufactured by

*The American Printing
House For The Blind*

1839 Frankfort Avenue
Louisville 6, Kentucky

This device consists of a plastic type frame, with which can be used either plastic Braille cubarithm cubes or 24-point plastic Gothic numeral type (for arithmetical calculations), or square, plastic pegs (as a kindergarten pegboard).

The frame itself is molded from semi-rigid red vinyl plastic, and is $8\frac{1}{2}'' \times 7''$. There are 256 cells in the frame (16×16), each cell being $\frac{5}{16}''$ by $\frac{5}{16}''$ square, and a tray at one end for holding the type when the frame is in use. The purpose of making the frame from semi-rigid vinyl plastic is to reduce the noise when working with the type.

To use the device as an arithmetic slate, either of two kinds of type can be employed:

Braille Cubarithm Cubes — Made of hard yellow vinyl plastic, $\frac{5}{16}'' \times \frac{5}{16}'' \times \frac{5}{16}''$ in size. Each type is identical to the others, and contains the Braille digits from 1 to 9 and 0 on five of the faces when properly positioned, plus one blank side which can be used for various other purposes.

24-Point Gothic Arabic Numerals — Made of hard yellow vinyl plastic, $\frac{5}{16}'' \times \frac{5}{16}'' \times \frac{7}{16}''$. The set consists of 15 each of the digits from 1 to 9 and 0. In addition to being used in mathematical calculations, this set of type is useful for teaching the shape of ink-print numerals to blind children.

To use the device as a kindergarten pegboard, square pegs made of hard blue vinyl plastic are employed, each peg being $\frac{5}{16}'' \times \frac{5}{16}'' \times \frac{7}{16}''$ in size.

The frame and three sets of type can be purchased separately or in combination, priced as follows, postpaid in the United States:

Frame—$2.12.

Braille cubarithm cubes (set of 150)—$2.61.

Arabic numerals (set of 150—15 of each digit 1 to 9, plus 0)—$2.61.

Kindergarten pegs (set of 150)—$1.61.

1. Red semi-rigid vinyl frame with square holes.
2. Braille cubarithm Cubes—made of hard yellow vinyl plastic.
3. 24-point gothic Arabic numerals—made of hard yellow vinyl plastic.
4. Kindergarten pegs—made of hard blue vinyl plastic.

Kine Mltply Vizr

(“Are You Bright as a Bunny?”)

Manufactured by

*The American Printing
House for the Blind*

1839 Frankfort Avenue
Louisville 6, Kentucky

Designed as an incentive to learning the multiplication tables, squares and cubes through No. 12, the Kine Mltply Vizr consists of a thick cardboard, 11"x11" square, on which has been mounted a bright red plastic wheel embossed with the numbers and fitted with fluted edges for manual turning and a gear mechanism to position the wheel for reading. Over the face of the wheel is a sheet of heavy paper with a V-shaped hole cut out at the top so that the Braille numbers can be read when the wheel has been turned to the proper position for the desired table.

On the top sheet of paper (over the wheel) the numbers from 1 to 12 are written on either side of the V-shaped hole between the ears of the bunny, the odd numbers being on the left-hand side and the even numbers on the right-hand side. To use the device, say to find the Table of 8's, the red wheel is turned until the No. 8 comes into position on the plastic wheel at the bottom left-hand corner of the V, with the multiplication sign (dots 1-6) at the bottom right-hand corner (see picture on front). To find the product of "8x9," find the No. 9 second from the top of the left-hand column on the top yellow sheet, and then read No. 72 immediately to its right on the red plastic wheel in the slot. Similarly to find the product of "8x12," find the No. 12 at the top of the right-hand column on the yellow facing sheet, and read No. 96 immediately to its left on the red plastic wheel in the slot.

(Note: All signs of operation and the square and cube signs are in Taylor Code.)

Price—$2.12, postpaid in the United States.

Credit for the original design of the Kine Mltply Vizr should be given to G. Gilbert Scott, of Los Angeles, California, who designed the device in ink-print for seeing children.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

October 25, 1960

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

It has been my privilege to be a member of your Board of Trustees for the past 14 years, and President since 1954. Speaking for your Executive Committee, I would like to recognize the serious, personal responsibility taken by each member in executing his duties in this capacity. On behalf of the entire Committee, I present the following report for the past fiscal year.

INVENTORY PROBLEMS

One of the most serious problems constantly facing your Executive Committee is that of a large and rapidly increasing inventory. In its position as the official textbook printery for the United States, as well as being the largest publishing house for the blind in the world, it is necessary that the institution undertake, not only to produce materials for the entire field of the blind on direct order from sponsoring agencies, but also to manufacture and maintain adequate inventories of finished stock, so that, theoretically, at least, materials can be provided when needed. To do this, we must maintain a sort of "Sears Roebuck catalog" containing thousands of individual titles in many mediums. However, unlike Sears Roebuck, all of the materials must actually be manufactured by the Printing House, and there is no vast resource of hundreds of thousands of manufacturers to supply us with finished goods for this purpose, because of the specialized nature of our products. The result is that we must sink a major portion of our capital funds into inventory each year. A check on the growth of this problem shows that only three years ago we carried a total inventory of finished stocks, goods in process, and raw materials of about $500,000. As of June 30 of this year, this total had grown to more than $775,000. This is an increase of approximately $230,000, although during the same period the over-all increase in value of materials distributed had grown from $1,100,000 in 1957 to $1,485,000 in 1960, an increase of only $385,000. Thus, it can be seen that, while we are constantly increasing our manufacturing facilities and working force, and thereby the amount of goods which can be distributed, we are at the same time increasing inventory. It is the considered opinion of your Executive Committee that this maintenance of inventory is a part of the service which the Printing House should be expected to provide, but it is a financial burden which causes us some concern.

PRICE INCREASES

Last year I reported that the use of the IBM office equipment, originally installed for use in the fund-raising and magazine-circulation departments, was being extended to the cost-accounting and general office operations. This transfer in methods of operations is now about complete, and has put our accounting procedures on an adequate and efficient basis. It has also made possible more careful analysis of just what our costs are, and to pinpoint where these costs are. The result, I regret to report, shows clearly that prices must be raised. This is particularly necessary for Braille and large type materials, principally because production methods in these two departments are not as subject to improvement through new inventions and procedures as in others, at least so far, although we have hopes that the new IBM machine-translation of Braille will do much to increase flexibility of operation in the Braille plate-making department, once it gets into production. I therefore must announce at this time that a new schedule of catalog prices will be issued effective November 1.

In passing, I think I should state that we have held off several months announcing this price increase, because of legislation which had been pending in Congress during the last six months looking to an increase in the national minimum wage.

In closing, may I express to the Ex-officio Trustees, Mr. Davis, and our hard-working staff and employees, the sincere thanks of the Executive Committee. In the long run, it is your and their creative and constant industry which places the Printing House in the forefront of its field.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM C. DABNEY, President

REPORT OF THE PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

October 25, 1960

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

Your Publications Committee was able to transact some business during the year, but by far the greater part was conducted at an all day meeting held October 22, 1960 at the Printing House.

We are most grateful to Miss Hooper and Mrs. Dougherty for the herculean job they performed in organizing and tabulating the 332 different titles of books or series which were submitted to our Committee. The information thus made available to us was invaluable. These two ladies could certainly use more help.

The Committee believes that it is impossible for the American Printing House, or any agency, to ever be able to give to each individual blind child the exact text he may need. Many states have adopted textbook lists from which the schools must choose. With children scattered in various schools in any one state, the chances that all schools would select the same text is rather slim. The result is that many individual classes are disappointed and critical of the American Printing House because they cannot obtain what they need. To further pinpoint our problem, we cite the following: one city submitted 61 titles or series of which 37 were for large type only, 13 for talking books, 4 for Braille and 7 were not specified as to how they were to be done. If the American Printing House did the work which this one city wanted, practically no one else would get anything, the cost would be prohibitive, and the inventory created would become impossible.

Your Committee is greatly concerned by the inventory of Braille books, and especially that of large type books. We believe something has to be done and, therefore, recommend to the Board of Trustees that hereafter it shall be the policy of the Printing House not to publish books in large type unless tentative orders have been received for a total of 50 copies from not fewer than 5 different schools or state department of education. The adoption of this provision automatically eliminates the previous policy of necessarily paralleling all basic materials in both Braille and large type form.

This Committee has authorized the American Printing House to publish books under the following categories: Basic Readers, Literary Readers, Geography, History, Social Studies, World Geography, Junior High School Civics, Health, English Composition and Grammar, General Science, General Mathematics, Scouting, and French Readers. We are delighted to learn that several Literature Anthologies are under way. We are equally pleased to learn that the 1959 edition of the WORLD BOOK ENCYCLOPEDIA will become available in Braille in 1961. We hope that what few changes were made in Braille from the ink-print copy will be issued in an ink-print brochure to all those who purchase the Braille encyclopedia. It has taken the time of 3½ stereotypists for two years to do this work. The completion of this book will release these people to do other textbook and technical work.

The Printing House has been urged to go ahead with the embossing of Braille music and is now ready to do so.

There is still some confusion as to proper mathematics and scientific notations. These need to be clarified. Your Committee voted to ask the American Printing House Educational Research Committee to give consideration to the changes in teaching practices in the fields of mathematics and science, as well as to the adequacy of existing Braille codes for these fields, and to determine the ways they may affect the teaching of these subjects to blind children.

Some states have realized the problems of the American Printing House and have contracted with it to have certain texts Brailled, paying the cost of embossing either out of quota funds or with cash.

Your Chairman believes that if the day class teachers, the itinerant teachers, the supervisors of special education, and teachers in residential schools could visit the American Printing House, a better understanding of the problems presented in trying to obtain the exact text for each child would be realized, and we might then be able to work out some program which would be adequate.

Your Committee wants to do everything it can to expedite matters so that our blind children may be served.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANCIS M. ANDREWS, Chairman

REPORT OF THE EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH COMMITTEE

October 25, 1960

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

The Educational Research Committee met in the Conference Room of the American Printing House for the Blind, Sunday afternoon, October 23, 1960, beginning at 1:30 p.m., with the following members present:

W. A. Hack, Chairman
D. W. Olson, Jr.

Also attending the meeting were Mr. F. E. Davis, Dr. Carson Y. Nolan, and Dr. Emerson Foulke of the Printing House staff, and Mr. W. Crabin Gill, Mr. W. E. Allen, Mr. Roy M. Stelle, and Mr. Edward W. Reay, members of the Board of Trustees.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. Hack, Chairman, with Mr. Gill acting as Recording Secretary.

In presenting the report of the Department for the past year, Dr. Nolan stated that, in order to broaden the research program to include studies of basic perceptual problems, a variety of efforts have been made to increase the resources of the Department. Research grants received by the Department, together with a cooperative research agreement with the University of Louisville, have resulted in the addition of five part-time staff members. In-service training has resulted in the assumption of a more professional role by an additional staff member.

RESEARCH CONDUCTED DURING THE CURRENT YEAR

1. Development of a Roughness Discrimination Test. Development of a test to be used to predict reading readiness for blind children was continued during this year. This year's results were favorable to further work on this test during the coming year.

2. Object Recognition Test. Initial work on a test which will utilize tactual recognition of objects to estimate level of concept development occurred during this reporting period. Results obtained indicate further work should be done on this test during 1961.

3. Teacher Evaluation of Large Type Pictures. Ninety-one per cent of a group of 110 public and residential school sight-saving teachers expressed a preference for the method of reproduction of large type pictures developed during the previous year.

4. Legibility of Ink and Paper Color Combination. Study of material printed in both black and blue ink, on five tints of paper, revealed that the paper and ink color combination currently in use by the APH is as legible as any other combination currently in use elsewhere.

5. Tactual Discriminability of Area Symbols. Eight tactual patterns which can be used to represent areas on maps were identified. These patterns are so different from one another that they are confused, on the average, less than 3 per cent of the time.

6. Learning to Recognize and Recall Tactual Symbols for Areas. It was found that children could easily learn to recognize the eight symbols, and that they could remember them well after a month had passed. These findings support the use of such symbols in map production.

7. Oral and Written Administrations of Achievement Tests. In a collaborative study with Perkins, it was established that results obtained through these two different methods of test administration are not equal. Further research is planned to overcome this difficulty.

8. Lavender Braillewriter Operation Research. The desirability of the operational characteristics of the prototype of the Lavender Braillewriter were checked through use of the writer by potential operators.

ADDITIONAL RESEARCH PLANNED FOR FISCAL 1961

1. Tactual Symbols. This year it is planned to duplicate both the discrimination and learning studies for symbols that can be used to represent points and lines. We have received a two-year grant for $14,000 for work in this area.

2. The Abacus as an Aid for Teaching Elementary Arithmetic. Already under way is a program to evaluate an elementary arithmetic curriculum which employs the abacus as a teaching tool.

3. Reading-listening Comprehension Study. This study will compare comprehension for material presented to children through Braille and through recordings with word rates for recordings varying systematically from 175-425 words per minute. This joint project with the University of Louisville is supported by a $15,000 grant received from the Office of Education.

4. Cues in Reading Braille by the Whole-word Method. It is planned to investigate the cue values of such factors as individual latters, letter position, letter groups, Braille contractions, word length, word shape, part words, and context in reading Braille by the Whole-word Method.

5. The Roles of Distance, Direction, Practice and Retention in Sound Localization. The effects of variations in these factors and the relationships between them will be studied.

6. Cues Used by Blind Children in Categorizing Objects. This study of concept development will attempt to identify the cues used by blind children at different age levels to classify a set of objects.

Respectfully submitted,

W. A. HACK, Chairman

REPORT OF THE TANGIBLE APPARATUS COMMITTEE

October 25, 1960

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

The Committee on Tangible Apparatus held its annual meeting on Sunday, October 23, 1960, at the American Printing House for the Blind from 3:30 until 5:30 p.m.

Members of the Committee present were:

John M. Wallace, Chairman, Florida
W. E. Allen, Texas
Byron Berhow, Washington
L. P. Howser, Kentucky
Roy M. Stelle, Colorado

Others present were:

Finis E. Davis
Virgil E. Zickel
Edward W. Reay, Idaho
Dr. Carson Y. Nolan, American Printing House
Dr. Emerson Foulke, American Printing House
W. Crabin Gill, Louisiana
W. A. Hack, South Dakota

Mr. Virgil E. Zickel presented the Report on Development and Production of Tangible Apparatus during the year October 25, 1959, to October 23, 1960.

The American Printing House for the Blind and the Committee expressed concern over the lack of ideas, suggestions, and needs of our schools for equipment and teaching aids for the blind from teachers, supervising teachers, principals, and administrators.

Sales to schools for Tangible Apparatus, the past year, have increased $50,000. The Brown Slate and the Plastic Rule are in production and delivery may be expected within a month. The Plastic Rule has been very popular and 670 have been distributed.

The Raised Line Checkbook, approved by last year's Committee, has been completed and is available; however, it has not been accepted very well. This is now available and it is hoped that orders will be received in the future.

The new model Hall Braille Writer, approved last year for production, is now available from stock. Of 500 Hall Writers approved last year, 100 have been produced and 400 are in the production process.

The most exciting announcement concerning Braillewriters is that the Lavender Writer is now ready for production. The Committee has authorized the American Printing House for the Blind to acquire production tools and begin immediate production of the Lavender Braillewriter. It is hoped that this writer may be made available for $40, or less, once production is begun on a large scale.

Further development of the Plastic Slate awaits the development of future plastics. Research on die cast models has been successful but they are not as inexpensive as plastic ones.

The Vacuum Formed Map project awaits further needed suitable symbols; however, a mold for the map of the United States Territorial Expansion has been completed and vacuum formed parts will be available within two weeks.

The Schott Abacus, which is in use with 500,000 public school children, has been adapted with a friction device on counters for experimental purposes with 150 blind children. If this experiment proves successful, it will be made available to all schools.

Ruth W. Marcus, of the Alexander Graham Bell Elementary School, Chicago, submitted an upward-writing slate with double size cells and one with standard size cells for production consideration, but the Committee took no action. The upward-writing slate developed by General Electric for Carla Dotson, a pupil at the Kentucky School, was considered, but the Committee felt it was not practical; therefore, no action was taken.

A model of The Master Cube, designed by G. Gilbert Scott, was offered to the American Printing House for the Blind for production. The Committee authorized the American Printing House for the Blind to negotiate with Mr. Scott, and, if satisfactory arrangements can be made with Mr. Scott, to proceed with production.

The Committee authorized the American Printing House for the Blind to produce or acquire a volley ball and a soft ball, fitted with a bell or some other device, that would emit sounds when thrown or rolled.

The Committee also recommended that some person, preferably Mrs. Betty Wommack of the Kentucky School for the Blind, write articles for The Journal describing teaching aids and tangible apparatus for the blind, and the proper use of each.

Due to lack of orders and interest, the Printing House was instructed to discontinue production of the IMOUT game.

The Committee wishes to thank the Board, Mr. Davis, Mr. Zickel, and the entire staff of the American Printing House for the Blind for their interest, cooperation, and efficient work.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN M. WALLACE, Chairman

REPORT OF THE VICE-PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER

October 25, 1960

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

PRODUCTION

As have all recent years, the records for 1960 once again reflect the constantly increasing demands on the Printing House for new and more books and materials. Mr. Dabney has told you that last year we distributed nearly $1,500,000 worth of goods — an increase of $200,000 over 1959. Each department has shown a healthy growth, with outstanding increases in Talking Book, Braille and Tangible Apparatus volume, in that order. Every effort has been expended in trying to set up and complete production schedules which will make materials available promptly, and of good quality. Additionally, we have gradually increased our inventories of finished stock, so that catalog items, particularly schoolbooks, may be available on order. With more capital funds available for this purpose, a much better job could be done, but we feel that in large measure we have met the production needs of the schools and classes in far better fashion this year than ever before, even though we are still swamped with orders — most of which have come in during the summer and fall months, or in much larger quantities for particular titles than we could estimate in advance last spring.

INCREASED REGISTRATIONS

One of our most pressing problems at the present time is the vast increase in the number of children attending public schools, thereby making necessary a far wider variety of texts than ever before, but in fewer quantities of each individual title. To meet this demand takes longer proportionate working time to produce, while at the same time increases unit costs. In turn, the amount and variety of finished inventory puts an additional burden on storage space, and the whole cycle continues to repeat each year in a widening circle. In January, 1960 total registrations for the Federal Act amounted to 14,762, of which 52.9% of the children were in public schools. This was an increase of nearly 1300 pupils over the year before. We have been told that 1960 should be the peak year for new registrations of retrolentals, but all indications are that the total registrations will continue to rise, perhaps more slowly, but we are now estimating that registrations for January, 1961 will be in the neighborhood of 15,750. I know you will be interested to learn that last year there were more children reported in residential schools than ever before, even though the number in public schools was greater, and also on the increase.

CONFERENCE ON COORDINATION OF HAND-TRANSCRIBED AND PRESS-PRINTED TEXTBOOKS

In order to help meet the need for a wide variety of small quantities of individual textbooks needed by children in the public schools, you will remember that we set up our vacuum-formed, Braille plastic-plate printing department. In 1959, only 1300 such volumes were produced, based on demand, but during 1960 nearly 4400 volumes were manufactured, comprising some 385,000 pages, and a proportionate rate of production, in two shifts, has been under way for the first four months of the present fiscal year. However, our two years of experience with this project, together with the maintenance of the Central Catalog of Hand-transcribed Titles, has taught us that somehow, somewhere, there must be an official program of coordination of production as between hand-transcribers (including volunteer producers of recordings and large type texts) and that of the Printing House under the Federal Act. To this end, therefore, with the generous assistance of the American Foundation for the Blind, the Printing House is calling a conference here in Louisville, on the days of November 28-29, 1960, for the purpose of evaluating the problems involved and attempting to set up workable procedures and lines of authority to meet these problems. We look forward to this conference with a great deal of hope and eagerness.

SPECIAL PROJECTS

1. Machine-translation of Braille — For the past three or four years, we have reported to you on the progress of the IBM process for machine-translation of Braille, looking to the day when Braille printing plates can be produced through modern automated equipment, without the need of the expert Brailist. At the present time, we are just about to begin regular production using this equipment. We have purchased needed key-punching equipment to punch the original cards from the ink-print copy and have personnel available to do this part of the work, we have built three new production models of an electronically-driven stereograph machine on which the final metal printing plates are to be made and have received and installed three card-reading machines provided by IBM to direct the final plate-making from properly punched Braille grade 2 cards. We are now only waiting for the completion and final proving of the adaptation of the 704 computer program to the ENGLISH BRAILLE, AMERICAN EDITION — 1959 Braille system by IBM. In order to establish the competency of the programming of Braille to the 704 computer, it has been necessary to try out several different types of copy, each presenting separate types of problems of format and usage, but it is now hoped that the final program, with all of the “bugs” debugged, will be available before the first of the year, so that we can look forward to a very real increase in Braille plate production during the next six months.

2. Braille Encyclopedia — I am happy to report at this time that the publication of a Braille edition of THE WORLD BOOK ENCYCLOPEDIA is well advanced. As you will remember, this project was undertaken through a donation of $115,500 from the Field Foundation and Field Enterprises Educational Corporation. It is now expected that the actual plate-making should be completed by late next spring, and that the printing, binding and distribution of the first volumes will begin after the first of the year. Because of the size of this publication (145 over-sized volumes) it will be necessary to print and deliver the volumes in a piece-meal fashion, since we would not have space to assemble a 200-copy edition all in one space at any one time, nor could we devote full time to the printing and binding for a period of more than four months, with so many other items to be published during the same period. The donation from the Field Foundation and Field Enterprises will underwrite the entire plate cost of the encyclopedia, plus a $200 subsidy on about 175 copies. The full catalog price will be $616.25, plus shipping charges. The subsidized copies are being offered to a selected list of schools for the blind, public school systems, and libraries for the blind, as approved by the donors of the funds. This immense publication, the biggest Braille project I believe ever undertaken, will provide the first reference work of any volume ever available to the blind, and it gives us a deep pleasure to be able to participate in its preparation.

3. Braillewriters — No annual report at this time would be complete without a note on the Braillewriter situation. I am happy to say that during the 1960 year we were able to produce and deliver 1,188 Braillewriters — 710 Perkins Braillers and 478 New Hall writers. We are still many months behind on delivery of the Perkins Braillers, since new orders for machines are received about as fast as we can make delivery, based on the number of sub-assemblies we receive from the Howe Press, but New Halls can be shipped immediately on order. Actually, the Howe Press has been able to provide substantially more machines for our use this past year, and we are told that the rate of delivery should be increased during the next few months.

EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH

In recent months, the concept of the role of our Department of Educational Research has been broadened to include basic types of behavioral research, as well as that which has immediate application to the education of blind children, in order to provide for long-term studies of basic, perceptual processes which have heretofore been relatively unexplored. Under this broadened program, it has been possible to increase the resources of the department through applications for research grants, one such grant having recently been received which will provide $14,000 for research over a two-year period. Currently pending are other applications for grants totalling $40,000 covering research for the next four years. Through a cooperative program with the Department of Psychology and Social Anthropology of the University of Louisville, an additional psychologist, Dr. Emerson Foulke, has been added to the staff of the Department on a three-quarter-time basis, and a grant of $15,000 from the Office of Education of HEW provides for three part-time workers engaged in research for the blind. An additional cooperative venture is now in the stage of development with the Department of Psychology at Vanderbilt University.

During the year, eight research projects were completed, and reports of their findings will be printed in either The International Journal for the Education of the Blind or The New Outlook for the Blind. At this time, eight more projects have been mapped out for the 1961 year, some of which will be extensions of last year's projects, looking to the solving of problems encountered in previous studies.

It is a source of very real pleasure to be able to report the effective and solid growth in this Department under the able leadership of the Director, Dr. Carson Y. Nolan.

LEGISLATION

The major disappointment of the year has been the fact that Congress failed to act on the legislation introduced in March designed to amend the basic authorizing Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind." Bills were introduced into both houses of Congress by Representative Burke and Senator Cooper of Kentucky, and both bills were then immediately referred to the Office of the Budget, and could not be brought out for committee hearing, due to the engrossment of Congress in certain major national legislation. The non-passage of the authorizing legislation has been particularly disappointing at this time, since it has meant that the current per capita allocation for the 1960-61 fiscal year was dropped to $27.77, a figure far too low to provide the necessary materials for the education of our blind youth. As a matter of fact, as of this time, 11 residential schools and 5 state departments of education have already overdrawn their current year's allotment up to the permitted 25 per cent overdraft, and can receive no more materials through the Act until a new allotment is made. We are deeply anxious to see this situation corrected as soon as possible. It is now planned to reintroduce the legislation again immediately upon the convening of the new Congress in early 1961, and every effort will be made to effect early passage.

In closing, I should like to extend my sincere appreciation to the Executive Committee, and particularly to President Dabney, to the Ex-officio Trustees, and to our staff and employees, for their continuing and constructive help and loyalty. I am deeply grateful.

Respectfully submitted,

FINIS E. DAVIS, Vice-President and General Manager

§The classmate Edition of the DEVELOPMENTAL READING SERIES is available in grades II through VI only. The stories are the same as those found in the Regular Edition, but are simplified in vocabulary and in length and structure of both sentences and paragraphs, for the benefit of slow-learning children. The Regular Edition for grades II through VI has been published as a part of the California State Series, and while there may be slight variations, the books should be usable with the standard edition.

Announcing the Publication of

"THE WORLD BOOK ENCYCLOPEDIA"
in Braille

"Characterized by comprehensive coverage and readable and easy-to-use information that meets the interests and needs of upper-elementary, junior and senior high school students, and featuring excellent illustrative materials, the 1958 printing of THE WORLD BOOK is recommended as a children's and young people's encyclopedia for use in the home, in school and public libraries, and as a popular elementary encyclopedia for adults."—The Booklist and Subscription Books Bulletin, American Library Association, June 15, 1959.

AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND
1839 Frankfort Avenue
LOUISVILLE 6, KENTUCKY

The Braille Edition of The "WORLD BOOK ENCYCLOPEDIA"

Field Enterprises Educational Corporation, together with the Field Foundation, Inc., joins the American Printing House for the Blind in announcing the publication of WORLD BOOK ENCYCLOPEDIA in Braille. This will be the first time an encyclopedia has ever been published in Braille, and will comprise the largest single Braille publication ever undertaken. A total of $115,500 has been donated to finance the project—$60,000 by the Field Foundation, Inc., and $55,500 by Field Enterprises Educational Corporation. The actual publication is being done at the American Printing House for the Blind on a non-profit basis.

The entire running text of the 1959 ink-print edition, plus such tables and other materials as seem feasible of reproduction, will be included. Most illustrations, plus the entire Volume 19 (ink) covering the Study Guide, will be omitted.

The newly adopted code of "English Braille, American Edition—1959" is being followed in embossing WORLD BOOK. Additionally, where the text requires, the 1956 edition of "The Nemeth Code of Braille Mathematics" and "The Revised International Manual of Braille Music Notation, 1956", as well as Braille scientific notation, are being employed.

The reproduction of an encyclopedia in Braille is a formidable task. Printed in ink type, the 1959 edition of WORLD BOOK comprises 19 volumes, 10,500 pages, and occupies two feet of shelf space. The Braille version will fill approximately 38,000 pages, and 145 volumes, and will spread across some 43 feet of shelf space.

It is expected that the first volumes will be ready not later than March, 1961. The full catalog price, including only printing and binding costs, will be $616.25. Sets will be available for purchase by any school, library, agency, or individual at the above price. Additionally, schools for the blind or public schools (the latter through their state departments of education) which are eligible to receive materials through the Federal Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind" will be able to charge the cost of sets to quota accounts.

Since it is not known at this time when a second printing will be available, it is extremely important that all orders for copies of the first printing of the Braille edition of WORLD BOOK ENCYCLOPEDIA should be sent—BY DECEMBER 15, 1960—to:
